

Children Stampede At the Chicago Fair; Gates Thrown Open

Thousands of Youngsters, Estimated at 500,000, With Admission Set at Five Cents, Storm Entrances and Disrupt Activities at Century of Progress

Chicago, May 31.—An army of school children, estimated at 500,000, stormed the gates of the Century of Progress Exposition here today and fair officials threw all entrances open to prevent a serious stampede after twenty-five had been injured. Those hurt were treated in the city's hospitals. Most of them had fainted in the press.

General admission to the grounds and all concessions was five cents for school children. Five hundred extra city police were called to handle the crowd. Major John Lohr, general manager, ordered all concessions to open at once in an attempt to cut down the congestion on the fair grounds.

The children, who formed blocking lines, six abreast, at every gate, did the exposition grounds in a matter of hours. No deliveries could be made, no visitors could leave. Once the bars were down the children swarmed in and were unable to keep them in order.

FACE STRIKE THREAT IN U.S.

Washington, May 31.—Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, set out today to attempt to prevent threatened strikes in the United States steel and textile industries.

Johnson conferred with the heads of labor groups in both industries in an effort to get them to call off the threatened action.

Johnson first saw the steel group headed by Michael F. Tabor, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. Meanwhile, Thomas P. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, with a delegation of textile labor officials, waited in Johnson's outer office to talk with him.

RESIDENTIAL ACTION

The prospect grew President Roosevelt would have to step into the breach to avert a serious tie-up in the industries.

A general strike call by the United Textile Workers of America threatened cotton mill employees to leave their machines next Monday to fight what was a 25-cent strike in production by the NRA.

Leaders predicted more than 300,000 workers would respond.

Operators Request Cedar Royalty Cut

Economic Council Told Revival Scheme Would Put 3,500 Men to Work

A plan to put 3,500 men to work in cedar production in British Columbia was laid before the Economic Council this morning by leading lumbermen of the province.

Following up previous representations in which it was pointed out the industry had thousands of dollars a day in idle capacity, the council was told that the industry was suffering from a shortage of cedar.

They proposed that for a limited period the royalties be reduced by 50 per cent as far as cedar is concerned, the remaining 50 per cent, they suggested, should be set aside in a fund for the purpose of promoting the province's world cedar trade.

In eighteen months it was estimated an aggressive trade campaign in the United Kingdom, South Africa, the Americas and Australia would result in the cedar production being restored to the 1929 level, about three times as much as at present.

This, they said, would give employment to another 3,500 men in industry alone.

The argument advanced was that the lumbermen could save half the cost of the cedar if they were able to sell it at a lower price. This would enable them to continue cutting operations with the trade extension work proceeding at the same time, the industry would be laid for disposal of the entire stock.

NAVAL TALKS SOON TO BEGIN

London, May 31.—Preliminary discussions of major powers in preparation for the 1935 naval conference will begin in London within a fortnight, it was revealed today, after Great Britain's invitation to take part had been formally accepted by Japan.

Acceptance by the United States already had been received, and while Italy and France have not replied it was indicated they will join in the discussions.

Pope Celebrates 77th Birthday

Vatican City, May 31.—Pope Pius XII celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday today. After saying a mass of thanksgiving in his private chapel, he received the congratulations of his relatives.

Man Threatens To Blow Up Car And Self, But Police Win

Alameda, Cal., May 31.—Abandoning his weird dynamite suicide scheme, Frank Bennett emerged from his automobile shortly after noon today and immediately was seized by waiting police.

Officers pinned the man's arms, placed him in a police automobile and rushed him to jail.

A careful watch meanwhile was kept over Bennett's automobile, left guarded on the marshlands, to prevent a surging throng from approaching the machine.

ARGUED FOR HOURS

As police throughout the morning attempted to induce Bennett to leave his car, they feared that the man, weary from a sleepless night, would relax his grip on a detonation switch believed to be wired to forty-eight sticks of dynamite and a gallon of nitroglycerin.

"This is the best means of suicide," Bennett told Inspector Al Sturtevant, "I hope to kill myself, as they talked with him as he sat in his automobile on marshlands some distance from buildings. Bennett, wide awake after sitting in the machine all night without food or water, received the officers' gracious, but refused for hours to be talked out of his scheme to blow himself up."

PLANNED FOR YEARS

"I have been planning suicide for three years," they quoted the man as saying. "I considered several means of suicide and some time ago got a gun to shoot myself, but I was arrested for carrying it and placed on probation."

"I was laid off as a mechanic three years ago and have been sick and in the hospital several times."

The officers urged the man to consider his invalid wife and three children and they wept at the mention of his family. But he insisted he would carry out his plan.

May Is Slightly Below, But Other Months Provide 90 Hours More Than Average

After exceeding himself for the first four months of the year, old-fashioned Victorians during May, and when the monthly weather report was issued this morning by F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill it was noticed that there were thirty-four hours less sunshine during this month than May usually produces.

The sunshine for the thirty days of May ending yesterday evening amounted to 242 hours and forty-eight minutes. Usually the sun shines during May for 277 hours, so that it was thirty-four hours below average this month.

Rainfall was slightly above average for May. A total of 1.32 inches fell during the month, which was a quarter of an inch above average. The month was featured by several severe windstorms and a number of chilly evenings.

HALIBUT PACT IS CRITICIZED

Senators Taylor and McRae Urge Canadian-U.S. Commission Be Changed

Ottawa, May 31.—The International Halibut Treaty and the commission administering it was under fire today before the fisheries committee of the Senate.

The commission regulates the catch of halibut banks in Canadian waters.

The commission is composed of two Canadian and two United States members. The Dominion members are W. A. Pound, deputy minister of fisheries, and J. P. Babcock, twenty-five years commissioner of fisheries in British Columbia.

A reconstitution of the commission and a revision of the treaty was advocated by Senator J. D. Taylor, New Westminster, and Senator A. D. McRae, Vancouver.

Senator Taylor resigned as chairman of the committee to give evidence as a witness before his colleagues. Senator H. H. Horsey, Liberal, Ontario, took the chair.

Mr. Pound defended the treaty before the committee. "Since 1930 the treaty has changed the halibut fishery from a declining business into a continually expanding one."

VILLAGE IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

Forest Flames Devour Blackville, N.B.; Railway Station Destroyed

Canadian Press
Saint John, N.B., May 31.—Late today reports from Northumberland County, N.B., were that forest fires raging in that district had devoured most of the village of Blackville. Sixteen buildings were said to have been burned.

Other Canadian Press dispatches today reported the following: A train derailed because of severe fires along the right of way in eastern Quebec reported destruction of a station, roundhouse and other buildings at Holiday, Que. and rescheduled at Montreal, Que. and rescheduled at Montreal, Que. and rescheduled at Montreal, Que.

GOVERNOR ROLPH LIES NEAR DEATH

San Jose, Cal., May 31.—California's stricken Governor, James Rolph Jr., today clung to the spark of life which physicians said might flicker out at any moment.

The sixty-four-year-old executive was reported "about the same" at his Santa Clara County ranch retreat. Physicians expressed belief the governor must meet defeat in his gallant fight.

DEBT VIEWS SENT TO U.S.

British Proposals to Avoid Classification as Defaulter Forwarded to Washington

London, May 31.—The government's view on war debts and its proposals to avoid being classed a defaulter when an installment payment is due next month, have been dispatched to Washington, it is understood here.

The British statement is either in the hands of the State Department at Washington, or is in the safekeeping of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, pending the return of President Roosevelt to the capital. It was said in governmental quarters.

In the House of Commons today Arthur Evans, Conservative, pressed Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, on this point. "I hope to be able to make a statement shortly," the Chancellor replied.

In official circles it was not expected Mr. Chamberlain would discuss the war debt negotiations in Parliament before Monday.

C.N.R. TO REDUCE ITS LINES SOON

Duplication With Services of C.P.R. to Be Cut Down, Chairman Fullerton Tells Commons Committee

Ottawa, May 31.—The trustees of the Canadian National Railway contemplate abandonment of many lines of an unproductive nature, Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the board, told the House of Commons railway committee today. He did not specify which lines it was proposed to abandon, but said the trustees would shortly make application to the Board of Railway Commissioners for authority to proceed with that policy.

Line abandonments would take place only where there was duplication of services with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Fullerton said. Residents in the areas affected would be given prior notice of the intention of the trustees and they would be given opportunity to appear before the Board of Railway Commissioners in order to present their own case.

Vancouver Retail Merchants' Association Makes Suggestion to Premier Pattullo

Vancouver, May 31.—A resolution urging Premier Pattullo to establish a retail business code in British Columbia as soon as possible has been passed by the Retail Merchants' Association at a meeting of representatives of practically all classifications of retail trade.

"The business of independent merchants throughout the province is being seriously affected by unethical trade practices, such as misleading advertising, loss leaders, untaxed mail order business, secret rebates and other practices which are injurious to the interests of the merchant and his employees," the resolution states.

Seattle, May 31.—To organize the Pacific Coast waterfront Federation, combining shore and seafaring workers with the purpose of centralizing their future working policies, executive committees of all maritime trade unions convened in the Seattle Longshore Hall today.

The meeting came after Seattle, Everett and Tacoma unions had rejected the San Francisco arbitration proposal for joint operation of hiring halls but "open shop" hiring policies. Ferryboat men, who walked out Tuesday on the Puget Sound Navigation Co., returned to work yesterday evening after the company had met demands for a six-day week and no decreases in wages.

HALIBUT BOAT LONG OVERDUE

Search For Missing Seattle Craft With Crew of Six on B.C. Coast

Fears for the safety of a crew of six aboard the halibut boat Katala, seventeen days overdue at Seattle, are being entertained by Sound City relatives. Provincial police patrol boats along the British Columbia coast have been asked to assist in the search for the craft.

The craft, registered at Seattle, is skippered by Michael O. Neilson, who has a crew of five. She is forty-nine feet long and painted white.

Provincial police were notified of the missing boat yesterday evening in a telegram from Seattle, sent by Mrs. Jack Lamon. Within twenty-seven minutes all police patrol boats on the coast were notified to be on the lookout for her, and it was suggested she may have put in at Goose Island, a favorite haven for fishermen in stormy weather, in Queen Charlotte Sound.

The fact, however, that fair weather has prevailed on the coast for the last two weeks, gives rise to the thought the boat may have met with an accident. Authorities feel the weather was not sufficiently stormy to necessitate a boat of the size of the Katala putting in anywhere for safety.

It is understood the ship put out with the remainder of the halibut fleet from Seattle, and practically all the other boats have returned. The Katala was due back at Seattle on May 13. Her beam is thirteen feet nine inches with a gross tonnage of twenty-four tons.

DISARMAMENT NEVER SO LOW

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Conference Chairman, Says Outlook Most Gloomy

Geneva, May 31.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, said today that never before had prospects for success of the conversations been so unpromising.

"The clouds have never hung so low," he said.

Mr. Henderson made the gloomy observation after talks with Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, and the delegates from Spain, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

Representatives of powers not involved in the differences between France and Great Britain met at frequent intervals in an effort to devise a plan to save the conference. Recently the neutral powers had advocated some rearmament for Germany, coupled with security.

U.S. FLEET IN BIG DISPLAY

Parades Past President Roosevelt Off N.Y. Before Going to Manhattan Berths

New York, May 31.—The United States fleet, a gaunt, gray armada of ninety-six ships and 40,000 men, paraded before President Roosevelt today in one of the greatest pageants of United States naval history.

Sailing in from southern waters, the fleet kept the rendezvous with its commander-in-chief at sea, two miles off the Ambrose Lightship, near the harbor entrance, although delayed somewhat by fog.

It was a three-fold spectacle—the ships in review, the planes in an aerial demonstration and the final procession of the vessels to berths about Manhattan.

The column of ships was twelve miles long.

With battle flags flying and guns thundering the Presidential salute, the fleet passed within 500 yards of the anchored reviewing ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, on which stood President Roosevelt. It took nearly four hours for the ships to pass. Thousands of spectators saw the review.

League Debate In the Senate

Ottawa, May 31.—An amendment to the motion of Senator A. D. McRae, Conservative, Vancouver, who proposes Canada should withdraw from the League of Nations, was moved in the Senate yesterday by Hon. C. E. Tanner, Conservative, Nova Scotia. Taking a stand directly in opposition to the McRae motion, that of Senator Tanner urges that Canada "continue membership in the League."

He strongly opposed Canada's withdrawal, and asked where Canada would receive protection for goods and ships going to other parts of the world.

Quintuplets Gaining Now In Strength

Growth of Girl Babies at Farm Home Near Corbeil, Ont., Encouraging, Says Family Doctor; Mother Also Gaining

Corbeil, Ont., May 31.—More than eighty hours old, the Dionne quintuplets are "going strong," stated Dr. A. R. Dufour, attending physician, late this afternoon. They are now being nourished on human milk, obtained from new mothers in the vicinity, a supply received today from the American Medical Association, Chicago.

The three smaller members of the quintuplet group, born at Corbeil, for in an incubator which arrived yesterday evening from Chicago, via Toronto. The other two are being cradled in the home, and are being fed by the mother.

Mrs. Dionne, whose life hung in the balance soon after the birth, is regaining strength hourly. Dr. Dufour is well pleased with her condition, and the progress being made by his five infant patients. He looks for further gains as human milk is being fed the children.

Multiple Births Are Few In B.C.

One Set of Quadruplets in Province in Last Five Years; Three Sets of Triplets

Although British Columbia can boast one set of quadruplets in the last five years to stack alongside the Ontario achievement of quintuplets, multiple births are not very common in this province, a perusal of records this morning indicated.

Vital statistics figures give the quadruplets, born in 1931, as four females, all born alive, but do not state how long they survived.

In 1929 one set of triplets was born in the province, two males and one female, the latter being stillborn. In 1930 two sets of triplets made their appearance. All were males and all lived. Since then the records do not show any multiple births, although, of course, twins are not uncommon.

Going back further, there are several isolated cases of triplets, notably being the case in Victoria of three girls who not long ago celebrated their twenty-first birthday.

May Closes at 81½ Cents and October at 84½; at Chicago $1.03 Paid; Winnipeg Free Press Expert Says Large Area of Saskatchewan Cropless

Continuation of drought in Canada's southern prairie farm belt and in the United States sent wheat prices bounding 5½ to 5¾ cents higher than yesterday's close. Drought-caused advances Monday and Tuesday, with a reaction Wednesday, to leave prices about eight cents higher than the beginning of trade Monday morning.

Final futures prices left May at 81½ cents, July 82½, and October at 84½ to 5 cents. The maximum gain during the day was six cents over the previous day.

Prices in Chicago went over the dollar mark.

FARMERS BUY

Total volume on the Winnipeg pit was not heavy for the strong rise. Farmers were among those buying.

More rain in northern Alberta and northern Saskatchewan had no effect on the market as the drought of the southern wheat areas continued and temperatures kept at the high mark.

The report of Miss Cora Hind, agricultural expert of The Winnipeg Free Press, disclosing serious damage in southern Saskatchewan was a big factor in the bullish trend.

No relief from drought conditions in the southern parts of the prairies was forecast.

Chicago, May 31.—Wheat jumped the limit of five cents here today as severe heat parched arid fields, prices soaring to more than $1.03 a bushel, the first time more than $1 has been paid since last August.

Corn scored almost four cents to within a fraction of the limit. July and September deliveries of corn carried up the maximum of three cents and a year gained three cents.

An overwhelming surge of buying was carried to the close as the maximum levels at the close after wheat had hovered around three to four cents advance during most of the trading. The closing wheat quotations, on the final day in which they will be traded, was six cents above the open.

LARGE AREA CROPLESS

Winnipeg, May 31.—While encroaching borders of grasshoppers, rapidly emerging from the egg stage, made further inroads on Canada's prairie grain crops today, a wide area of the farm belt of southern Saskatchewan was a veritable wilderness. The southern Saskatchewan situation was disclosed in a report.

EARNINGS INCREASE

Mr. Fullerton told the committee considerable economies had already been effected, and this year there had been an increase of 22 per cent in the gross business of the C.N.R. in the first three months. He estimated gross earnings for the current year at $165,000,000.

The problem of establishing co-operation between the C.N.R. and the G.P.R. was beset with many difficulties. Considerable headway was being made, however, and committees were working on it all the time.

The impression was being disseminated throughout Canada that co-operation was not so effective as at first thought, several members of the committee said.

This had been strengthened by addresses delivered by E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. Hon. W. D. Euler, Liberal, North Waterloo, Ont., former Minister of National Revenue, said. He asked Mr. Fullerton to comment on that situation.

TO MAKE STATEMENT

Mr. Beatty, said the trustees' chairman, was a strong advocate of consolidation of the railways, and he was properly "looking after his own interests." He had not thought fit to make any public reply to Mr. Beatty's statement.

INQUEST AT MERRITT SOON

June 5 Set For Hearing on Death of Constable F. Gisborne

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 31.—Following a conference in the Attorney-General's room at the courthouse this morning, it was announced the inquest on the death of Dominion Indian Department Constable Frank H. Gisborne would open in Merritt at 10 a.m. on June 5. The preliminary hearing of three Indians charged with murder will probably proceed later next week, it was stated.

The meeting was attended by Hon. Gordon Sloan, Attorney-General, Col. J. H. McMullin, commissioner of provincial police; Inspector John Shiras, Kamloops detachment, and J. R. Nicholson, Vancouver barrister. Reports of evidence were considered at the meeting, and Inspector J. F. C. Vance submitted the results of various tests and examinations which he has made into the investigation surrounding the deaths of Gisborne and Provincial Constable Percy Carr.

Mr. Nicholson will attend the inquest and the preliminary hearing, as counsel for the Attorney-General. He is in charge of the legal end of the prosecution.

NO TRIAL DATE YET

No statement was forthcoming as to when the accused will be tried.

The Kamloops assizes will open June 5, and the Vernon assizes, June 6.

If the crown authorities deem an early trial expedient, either of these sittings might be adjourned, or a special sitting could be held.

On the other hand, if the accused cannot prepare for trial in such a short time, the court would probably not force them on, particularly in view of the fact that one of the Indians is in a serious condition in hospital.

The Indian Department will have to appoint a lawyer to handle the defence of the Indians, who are legally wards of the Dominion Government.

The mean temperature for the month was fifty-five degrees, which was one degree above average. Mr. Denison's report showed. The highest temperature was seventy-six degrees on May 22, while the lowest was forty-one degrees on May 24. The lowest on the grass thirty-one degrees the same morning. While the highest recorded at Gonzales Hill was seventy-six it was considerably hotter in town, a number of thermometers showing the temperature well over eighty degrees.

The precipitation for the first five months of the year in Victoria usually amounts to 11.76 inches. This year the rainfall totaled 16.21 inches, which was 4.45 inches above. With the heavy rains of the fall yet to be taken into account it looks very much as if Victoria will experience another wet year.

Although the amount of sunshine dropped during May, it was high during the other months. Usually the sunshine for five months totals 796 hours. So far this year there have been 886 hours, which is ninety hours above average. January produced sixty-two hours; February, 154.42 hours; March, 179.24 hours; April, 247.06 hours and May 242.46 hours. The sunshine by months is usually: January, sixty-eight hours; February, ninety-six hours; March, 152 hours; April, 203 hours; and March, 277 hours.

DISARMAMENT NEVER SO LOW

The French fleet set out from L'Orient to determine the effectiveness of coast defenses.

Japan launched its new cruiser Mikuma, which carries fifteen 6.1-inch guns and is expected to do thirty-three knots.

The war in Paraguay and Bolivia went right on, although Bolivia asked the League of Nations to fix responsibility under article 15 of the covenant and take definite action.

DIFFERENCES WIDE

With sessions of the Disarmament Conference suspended until tomorrow to allow private negotiations—and also to allow the experiment over yesterday's blunt British and French speeches to subside—the differences of viewpoint were so wide that even incurable optimists had just about lost hope of any agreement.

No delegation would hazard a guess over the eventual outcome. The idea of the general debate, which is to continue probably into next week, was that the steering committee might find in it some sign-post giving a direction for the future course. But the speeches so far—United States, Russian, British and French—have revealed nothing more than broad differences in view.

Russia holding the conference as a body for the limitation and reduction of armaments is already a failure, wants to convert it to a permanent peace conference. The Americans and the British want progress along the lines of the British draft plan. The French talk of it as a security conference.

BROAD ISSUE

The broad issue of course lies over the rearmament of Germany demands; that Germany, in the eyes of the French, is already achieving.

On the one hand the view is held that only by permitting certain measures of controlled rearmament, as recognized in the British plan, and supported by Italy, will Germany be induced to return to the conference. On the other France strenuously opposes any rearmament concessions to Germany and all efforts at a compromise have so far failed. Louis Barthou, the French Foreign Minister, asserted yesterday that Anglo-French negotiations on this point were actually progressing in April when Germany upset the apparent by publishing huge increases in her military budget.

FRENCHMAN SUPPORTED

Paris, May 31.—The cabinet today endorsed the attitude of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, at the Disarmament Conference yesterday.

Francis Pietri, French Minister of Marine, was charged by the cabinet to inform M. Barthou that his speech, flatly opposing German rearmament and stressing the need for security, was a faithful rendering of the French point of view.

Wheat Prices Surge Up In Canada and U.S.

By Miss E. Cora Hind, agricultural expert of The Winnipeg Free Press.

Even a Canadian child, born of the prairie farmer, appeared for a time at least to have given up the struggle against drought, and grasshoppers in the areas of Cadillac and Kincaid, Sask. In that district prairie winds lifted clouds of dust and sand into the air.

A 750 motor inspection trip by agricultural experts has revealed a picture of desolation through Saskatchewan's worst drought area, with its soil-baked, parched grasshoppers, wire worms and pale western cutworms.

NO SEEDING EVEN

In most places in south Saskatchewan coarse grains have not been seeded, because the ground is too dry for germination.

Pastures are brown and houses and cattle are gaunt from lack of feed. Crop-growers have also invaded southwestern Manitoba, sweeping that corner of the province almost bare, other reports stated. Drifting soil and drought have added to the devastation, and in the districts of Pierson, Stoughton and Sinclair, feed for stock is at a premium.

In Alberta, recent rains have aided crops and halted the grasshopper advance to some extent, but the fight already has cost the provincial government nearly $100,000.

U.S. CATTLE DESTROYED

Kansas City, Mo., May 31.—A blaring sun mocked the water-hungry wheat lands of the United States today, condemning 1,000,000 cattle to premature slaughter and burning down another 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Temperatures that hit 106 degrees doomed the cattle. The government announced they would be slaughtered to relieve farmers in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Texas, where feed shortages prevail.

George E. Farrell of the agricultural adjustment administration estimated the daily wheat abandonment due to drought in the western United States at $850,000. He noted the drought conditions are especially acute in northern states.

Nevertheless farmers in Kansas, which grows a fourth or more of the wheat produced in the United States, looked with increasing concern at their brown-out and deadened fields. In many parts no rain has fallen for more than a month.

DROUGHT "UNPRECEDENTED"

Washington, May 31.—Drought conditions in the western United States were called "unprecedented" today by the weather bureau, which said damage was spreading into the Pacific Northwest.

"In most areas from Nebraska northwestward, including central and eastern Montana, winter grains continued to deteriorate, with some reports beyond recovery, and other fields to be abandoned soon if no rains occur," the bureau said.

The bulletin added "severe drought" continued throughout the Ohio valley and from the central Mississippi lake region westward almost to the Pacific coast.

LEARNED OF CONDITIONS

Joseph A. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, was to address strikers at Olympia today before the battle on the peace proposal. While Ryan came north from mediation meetings in favor of the peace plan, he said yesterday he had learned of conditions were not what he had thought.

Charles A. Reynolds, chairman of the regional labor board, commenting on the strike, said: "This condition cannot go on indefinitely. Someone must stop it."

He said he would return to San Francisco as a member of the federal mediation board, if, after results of the plebiscite on the truce were announced, Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, decided mediation meetings should be renewed.

AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, May 31.—San Francisco's waterfront, along which police charged men and women rioters for the second time in a week, remained tense today. Police and Coast Guard longshoremen voiced opposition to an employers' peace proposal.

Shrieks, groans and curses mingled with the sound of running feet yesterday as officers broke up a demonstration which authorities declared was led by "girl Communists."

Twenty-four persons, including two policemen, received hospital treatment for injuries. One of the victims, Frank Fisher, forty-two, a longshoreman, was reported near death. Scores of other persons were knocked down, battered and bruised.

Idle vessels continued to fill port, with 15,000 longshoremen and 10,000 allied workers on strike.

CODE URGED FOR BUSINESS

The meeting was unanimous that retail business can conform to a forty-eight-hour week and that service of part time help should be confined to an eight-hour maximum within a twelve-hour period.

It was also urged that stores carrying goods exempting them from regular closing hours be required to close at the usual time. Such a by-law would make a story carrying both claims of goods to close at the time required for the non-exempt class.

London, May 31.—Three attempts to kidnap members of the family of a California police chief to the millionaire to take his family out of the United States for an extended visit abroad.

It was learned definitely today that Mr. Cord has been in England since the middle of April, a date corresponding to the sensational kidnapping cases of William F. Gattie in California and June Robles in Arizona.

Mr. Cord has taken a home in Surrey for the summer and it was said he does not intend to return to the United States until the kidnapping panic has died down.

A guard at the Cord home was said suddenly to have been surprised by an unidentified man who put a revolver against his side. The guard, however, was saved by a companion hidden in the shrubbery, who fired at the assailant, supposed to have been a would-be kidnapper.

Another attempt was believed to have been made when a man was found lurking on the estate.

saying that when he fell asleep his hand would raise the switch and blow him to "kingdom come" despite the officers' promise they would obtain work for him.

WUSERS' FOOD

"Wouldn't you like something to eat and drink?" the officers asked the man. "No," he replied. "And now will you fellows please go away and let me alone?"

The officers left, saying they would return.

Mrs. Bennett was unable to leave her home, being a semi-invalid.

Police believed the automobile actually contained enough explosives to cause terrific damage, as Patrolman William Pries, who first attempted to talk Bennett out of his scheme yesterday evening, was handed two sticks of dynamite by the man, who remarked, "Tough this."

The officers left, saying they would return.

Church Declares Against Gambling

Halifax, May 31.—The Anglican Synod of Nova Scotia yesterday passed a resolution backing up a strong stand by Archbishop Worrell, Primate of Canada, against gambling. The resolution calls for all loyal adherents of the Church of England to abstain from gambling, not only at functions, but in their social and business lives as well.

THREE KILLED IN CAR SMASH

Jersey City Man Already Charged With Reckless Driving Crashes Autos

Associated Press
Woodbridge, N.J., May 31.—A man with a summons for reckless driving in his pocket drove his car into a triple collision early to-day, and three women were killed.

Six other persons, including a girl, were seriously injured. Two may die.

The collision occurred when a car, seeking to pass a truck which was going in the same direction, crashed into another passenger car which was going in the opposite direction. One car was rolled in the path of the truck.

Those killed were: Miss Mildred Davidovich, twenty-three, of New York, and two unidentified women, believed from Philadelphia. The names of the two feared injured fatally could not be learned due to their condition.

Police said they found a Jersey City traffic summons for reckless driving, issued yesterday, in the possession of Michael Aronovitch, driver of one of the cars. Miss Davidovich and her father were occupants of his car.

NEW EMPIRE TRADE PLANS

Readjustment of Britain's Meat Imports Coming at End of June

Canadian Press
London, May 31.—The London Times to-day said a critical moment in development of empire trade will arise at the end of June, when arrangements made at Ottawa in 1932 to control importation to the United Kingdom of meat from New Zealand and Australia will come to an end.

A similar moment, it added, will occur at the end of August, 1933, when undertakings regarding importation of eggs and dairy produce from the Dominions will expire.

Negotiations for new arrangements, it said, will be a complicated task, involving balancing many conflicting interests, not all of them purely economic.

Neither the industrial policy of the Dominions nor the agricultural policy of Great Britain, it maintained, can be judged at present merely by its effect on the national balance sheet, and social and, in a broad sense, political, considerations must be taken into account.

The Dominions, the Times continued, have defined loosely the limits they intend to observe in developing their secondary industries. It was equally necessary and was rapidly becoming more urgent that the British Government be equally clear about the objects and limits of its agricultural policy.

The newspaper, commenting on a speech in Ottawa Tuesday by H. H. Stanley, M. C., Australian Minister in the United Kingdom, said Mr. Stanley, during his visit home, in New Zealand and in Canada, had done good service to the empire by helping the Dominions understand the economic position of the United Kingdom.

On his return here, it added, he could do equally good service by helping the British Government and people to understand the position in the Dominions.

CITIES UNITE IN REQUESTS

Victoria and Vancouver to Ask Province Assume Cost of Several Services

Vancouver, May 31.—Action was initiated by civic representatives of Vancouver and Victoria yesterday toward a joint drive by these cities on the British Columbia government, seeking to have the province assume the cost of several services now financed by the cities.

Chief among these services are unemployment relief, social services and hospital costs, which the cities argue should not be charged against land. Social services were formerly borne by the provinces, but now a portion is charged to cities.

At the meeting here yesterday it was decided each city would prepare a brief for submission to the provincial government at a conference to be arranged within the next two weeks. Prior to that meeting, delegates from both cities will meet in Victoria to consolidate their views and present a united front to the government.

If the provincial government refuses to take over these duties at its own cost, the cities will ask to be given larger grants with which to pay their present statutory shares.

Delegates at the meeting yesterday were Mayor David Leeming and Comptroller Macdonald of Victoria and Mayor L. D. Taylor, Ald. G. C. Miller and A. J. Pilkington, city treasurer of Vancouver.

BRIDGE PLAN VOTED DOWN

London, May 31 (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons yesterday evening voted 194 to 159 to reject the London County Council's plan to demolish Waterloo Bridge and build a new structure with the aid of money from the government's road fund.

Woman Takes Poison; Recovers

Associated Press
San Francisco, May 31.—As a deputy coroner arrived for the body, Mrs. Mabel Stoppel, forty-two-year-old nurse, reversed a physician's pronouncement of death here yesterday evening and was taken to a hospital instead of the morgue.

Dr. F. F. Alden, who notified the coroner's office, said the nurse had swallowed poison and that he and two other physicians had failed to detect heart action and concluded she was dead. After emergency treatment at the hospital, physicians said Mrs. Stoppel had a good chance to recover.

Just as the deputy coroner rang the doorbell, the nurse gave evidence she was still alive by moaning and moving her hands, Dr. Alden said.

Outlays On Radio Reported

Canada—Commission Spent $1,128,591 During Fiscal Year 1933-34

Ottawa, May 31.—During the fiscal year 1933-34 the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission spent $1,128,591 for equipment of studios and stations and new construction at Ottawa and Montreal. Details of the total expenditure of $1,128,591 during the year have now been given out.

The commission's statement shows that Hector Charbonneau, the chairman, received $9,000 per annum salary, and Vice-Chairman Maher and Commissioner W. A. Steel each $7,200 per annum. Traveling expenses of the three commissioners were as follows: Mr. Charbonneau, $1,097; Mr. Maher, $3,733; and Mr. Steel, $1,201. Other traveling expenses were $23,545.

STAFF SALARIES
Other items of the commission's expenditures are as follows: Total salaries of office staff, $54,740; leases of stations, $23,163; leases of time stations, $102,830; other salaries, $67,049; printing and stationery, $10,997; freight and express, $2,241; office equipment, $6,606; telephones and telegraph, $10,696; publicity, $1,144; rental of studios, $14,601; power and light, $4,170; maintenance, $11,331; wires, lines, etc., $302,978; postage, royalties, etc., $10,340; station charges for programmes, $20,276.

The total spent by the Radio Commission is outside of $245,429 spent by the radio branch of the Marine Department, including $66,330 for cost of the sale of radio receiving licenses and $179,090 for the elimination of interference caused by electric power supply lines and distribution systems, electrical machinery and domestic electrical devices.

TWO KILLED IN TEXAS CLASH

Associated Press
Rio Grande City, Tex., May 31.—Fighting bullets and flashing knives that cost two lives and caused the wounding of six persons at a political rally yesterday, brought Texas Rangers here hurriedly to-day.

The two killed were David Gomez and Pablo Solis, United States citizens.

A deputy sheriff, Ivario Elizondo, was stabbed in the back. Five other men were wounded by stray bullets. No arrests had been made early to-day.

The shootings took place at a political rally on the city plaza, where J. T. Canales, a Brownsville lawyer, had started to speak in behalf of a fellow townsman, T. W. Seabury, a candidate for state senator. Seabury is opposed by Senator Archie Parr, backed by the local political bosses.

J. J. Guerra, district clerk and brother of Sheriff G. A. Guerra, had the fight started after he had voiced objections to Canales's reference to the Guerra "gang."

IRISH SENATE OPPOSES BILL

Fights Measure to Abolish It Passed By the Dail

By Michael Rooney, Associated Press Staff Writer
Dublin, Irish Free State, May 31.—The Irish Senate, after talking things over, has got its temper up and decided no matter what President de Valera thinks, it wants to keep on being a senate.

Before the body is a bill passed by the Dail Eireann at the urgent suggestion of President de Valera divorcing the Free State from the senate, and, regardless of senate action, it will be effective within a year.

Among the gallery listening to the oratorical barrage was President de Valera himself. In leaving the chamber, he stumbled, caught his foot in a carpet and turned his ankle.

"De Valera's real aim is a dictatorship," said Chairman Bennett in summing up the stand of his party, and his attitude is "I am Sir Oracle and when I open my lips let no dog bark."

REVOLUTION PREDICTED
Mr. Bennett maintained a single-chamber government such as that proposed by President de Valera would lead inevitably to revolution.

The President, he warned, might find someone ready to play "Robespierre to his Danton or Lenin to his Kerevsky."

He remarked sardonically that under the bill they were discussing the President had been gracious enough to confer immunity from arrest on His Majesty should the King visit the Free State parliament building.

He added he did not think the day of the senate's dissolution was at hand because "we have justice, honor and truth on our side."

R.C.M.P. ACTION IS CONDEMNED

Mainland Magistrate Says Liquor Charge Against Chinese Is "Diabolical"

Brighouse, B.C., May 31.—"I think the whole thing is a conspiracy of the most diabolical kind," Magistrate O. E. Darling declared in police court here yesterday in commenting on an action brought by the excise branch of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police against Wong Sam, Chinese cafe proprietor of Stevenson, British Columbia.

"I consider it outrageous that any body of reputable police officers should bring such a case," Magistrate Darling added. "It is a conspiracy in favor of the accused, for I have already heard evidence in this court against two 'under-cover' men concerned in the charge."

"If these are the facts as brought out in this court it would be an absolute outrage to attempt to proceed with this charge. If police operatives are allowed to sell liquor, then turn around and report the sale to the R.C.M.P., who arrest the buyer, it would not be justice."

"If this case is tried on its merits, I had been a party to the conspiracy," the magistrate concluded.

Wong is charged with having in his possession on April 6 last a quart of unlawfully manufactured liquor which he stated he had bought from two alleged R.C.M.P. operatives, Eddie Kemp and Herbert Handley.

Kemp and Handley were convicted prior to Wong's trial on charges of keeping liquor for sale at Stevenson on various dates between February and April. They were each fined $400.

During their trial they were identified as men who had attempted to sell liquor to Japanese and Chinese store and restaurant proprietors.

Wong testified that after repeated visits to his restaurant by Kemp and Handley he bought a gallon of alleged

WORK FOR RELIEF

THE DECISION OF THE PROVINCIAL government to substitute for the present form of direct unemployment relief a system under which recipients of sustenance aid from the public treasury will be given employment is sound in every way. The policy of work as a means of relief has been in operation in some municipalities and has been found to operate successfully. It has reduced to a minimum the abuses inseparable from the system of aid without employment, the worst of which, as Mr. Pattullo says, is the impairment of the morale of those who receive it and who, in most instances, would much rather earn by honest labor what they get than exist on the bounty of others. Aside from this vital aspect of the situation, the policy of work and wages also insures the performance of many necessary or desirable public works which could not be carried out in any other circumstances, while it helps to check the exploitation of the public funds by persons who are not in actual need of relief.

Premier Pattullo is determined to put an end to the flagrant abuses which have grown up around the system of relief without work in many parts of the province, and which, if it were continued much longer, would evolve into a permanent obstacle to the country's progress and welfare. After August 1 there will be a new registration of unemployed and only those who are actually in need of help will be enrolled. Those who are able to find employment in other ways will not be given relief work. Those who are physically incapable of working and who have no other means of support, of course, will be looked after as usual.

Direct relief in such a country as Canada, with the greater part of her spacious territory unsettled and undeveloped, is one of the most glaring anomalies of the generation, and never should have got a start. If, three or four years ago, there had been a proper mobilization of all of the agencies of employment in the Dominion there would not have been a million workless people throughout the country and we would have escaped the terrible demoralization which was born of the dole. Very few people in this country want anything that does not work for, and the sense of utter hopelessness, the lack of initiative, the impairment of the will to work and the loss of self-respect, which have arisen out of the failure to provide an outlet for the energy and skill of those out of work have been nothing short of devastating.

Against that melancholy background the question of whether works programmes are profitable or not, whether they are technically good business or not, are purely secondary considerations. It is infinitely better to preserve the spirit of independence in an unemployed man or woman by providing work of some kind than to have that work efficiently done. Workers who are inefficient because they are unaccustomed to their jobs, but who are able to keep their self-respect, have a very vital quality which, considering the ultimate consequences to our citizenship, is even more important than efficiency. Incidentally, there could not be anything more inefficient than the lack of vision, initiative and courage with which this whole problem was met in a national way during the last few years. The dole in all its implications is not relief, beyond exceptional cases; it is direct encouragement not to work and as such is at least as much of a contributor to unemployment as any economic depression can be.

FRANCE REMAINS ADAMANT

THE GLOOMY ATMOSPHERE IN which the Disarmament Conference resumed its deliberations in Geneva on Tuesday became gloomier yesterday after M. Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, declared unequivocally that France would not consent to the rearmament of Germany under any conditions. This, according to an official statement from the Quai d'Orsay to-day, "was a faithful rendering of the French point of view."

M. Barthou spoke after Sir John Simon, Britain's Foreign Secretary, had urged the conference in the most vigorous tones to get down to business and put an end to pious speeches, and his statement was at once interpreted as an intimation that France does not want a disarmament convention, at least, not under any of the plans so far advanced, and, in any case, not until the matter of security has been effectively dealt with and settled—a practically hopeless prospect. The French spokesman declared that his country was quite prepared to use the British "bridge" over the gap between France and Germany, but he wanted first of all to be sure that all the planks were sound. "We will take care not to fall through hidden traps into the stream beneath."

A point to be remembered is that only last month, Anglo-French negotiations were being conducted in an attempt to reach some sort of compromise plan through which the gap dividing French and German opinion on the matter of Germany's rearmament might be bridged, when Germany upset the apple cart by publishing large increases in her military budget. Long before then, of course, France had formed the firm conviction that her ancient foe had been assiduously increasing her fighting equipment with no very studied attempt to keep it secret. We may be sure, too, that France has been well served in this regard by her own observers.

The French case is not a very difficult one to understand. It is unfortunate that it is the stumbling block to progress towards the desired goal, but, as already stated in these columns many times, France knows Germany better than any nation in the world and she naturally does not propose to subscribe to a formula under which her neighbor would be permitted to strengthen her offensive equipment. France does not propose to submit to any weakening of her defences such as might lead to a repetition of the invasions of 1870 and 1914. She does not propose to allow her territory to become a battlefield again if it is within her power to prevent it. That she means to try to prevent it is obvious from the stand which her government is taking at Geneva.

Nor should it be forgotten that the Germany of to-day under Hitler and his Nazis is a very different Germany from that under Stresemann and Liberal control. Only a few years ago, in the days which preceded the negotiation of the Locarno pacts and the entrance of Germany into the League of Nations, there was every indication that years of enmity which had existed between France and Germany would be forgotten by both nations, and that they would agree henceforth to live in peace and live up to the pacts entered into at that time in the spirit and the letter.

The death of Stresemann and the reappearance of the old Junker crowd, however, changed the whole atmosphere, gradually at first; but numerous sinister events soon began to cast definite shadows. The Von Papen-Von Schleicher combination represented the controlling spirit in the transition stage between moderate control of affairs and the advent to complete power of Chancellor Hitler and his disciples of ultra-nationalism—with dogmas which have their root in racial hatred, revenge, and lust for conquest.

True, Hitler has made a number of speeches declaring his desire for peace, but they have been generously interlarded with utterances of the most bellicose kind. He is a dictator who says his country must find more room in Europe, and it is this doctrine which he has instilled into the youth of the Reich—the youth which was too young to understand what the war was all about and that vast army of still young men who have been fed with copious doses of the revenge serum. The recent budget for greater military expenditure is obviously meant to imply to this youth Hitler's determination to try to fulfill the promises made to it during the months in which he was making his bid for the Chancellorship.

Hitler ought to understand that dictators only last a few years, as the life of a nation goes, that the continuance of his power eventually will demand something more spectacular than great mass meetings, the waving of the swastika, and the interminable Nazi salute. He already is beginning to find that as a mutual admiration society Nazism is not working as smoothly as it was a few months ago. At a great demonstration recently the applause which met his fiery oratory was not, according to correspondents, as whole-hearted as he and his lieutenants expected. Even the muzzled press is being rebuked for its drabness; and the press evidently has decided to remain drab as long as it has to be spoon-fed by Minister of Propaganda Goebbels. All this means that, to keep himself in power, Hitler will have to galvanize the nation into the mood to sanction an "expedition" to the outside to capture the "room" which he considers is so essential to Germany if she is to restore herself to her old place among the nations as a first-class power to be feared.

It is all this that France realizes. It explains the reason why she does not propose to help to forge a weapon for Germany to use against her. For if she permitted herself to agree to the rearmament of her neighbor, scaling down her own defensive organization to a similar level—the original German demand, or very nearly so—she would again be exposed to all the machinations of revived Prussianism still smarting under defeat, and which is now in the hands of a nationalistic fanatic.

MONEY POURS INTO SASKATCHEWAN

THE REGINA LEADER-POST SAYS federal money is simply pouring into Saskatchewan—where a provincial general election will be held on June 19; and it has been pouring in at such a rate that it sees no reason why the Royal Mint should not be moved to Regina until after polling day.

"Federal government money has been coming in here at the rate of more than a million a week since the beginning of May," says the Regina daily. "We have been getting more money than all three other western provinces combined—money with which to fight the grasshoppers, money for road building, money for seed grain, extra money for relief. It has been coming in in a steady, neat tide."

If this sudden financial interest in Saskatchewan implies that, in the judgment of those responsible for the deluge, the people of the province can be bought, says our contemporary, "we evidently are accounted an easy lot out here, ready to sell our souls for the traditional mess of pottage."

We can quite understand Mr. Bennett's concern for the fate of the Anderson government of Saskatchewan, and, also, for the Henry government of Ontario, where polling will take place on the same day as in Saskatchewan. June 20 will be a black day for the Prime Minister if both provinces are found that morning once again in the Liberal column.

Ontario may be a harder nut for the Liberals to crack than traditionally Liberal Saskatchewan; but even should Premier Henry's following be cut in half, it will be a severe blow to the Dominion government.

TIME FOR RESTITUTION
 The Border Cities Star

Much as we dislike government interference in private business, situations do arise where officialdom can no longer sit back and allow rankly unfair conditions to continue. The tobacco situation seems to be one of the situations requiring government intervention—unless the companies themselves are prepared to turn over a new leaf and start doing the right thing by the growers. Why not an extra payment to the growers right now, covering all sales in the last two or three years? The tobacco companies—the Imperial, at any rate—appear to have abundant cash reserves and we can think of no better way to put them into useful circulation than through an "extra dividend" to western Ontario growers at once. The farmers deserve it and need the money. More than that, the tobacco manufacturers owe it to them.

Loose Ends

A dangerous revolutionist enters Canada—it is good to see the mountains—the crop report is alarming—there is still worse news about the turtles—and one finds that one is as ignorant as ever.

By H. B. W.

REVOLUTIONIST

WHEN WE CAME across the border the other day on the great bridge at Buffalo, the Canadian customs officer, rummaging through my grip, found a book which instantly aroused his suspicions. The title said something about a revolution. Coming from the United States this sounded like dangerous stuff indeed. The fact that it was Carlyle's History of the French Revolution, which I had bought at Macey's in New York for seventy cents at a bewildering bargain sale, didn't matter. It was a revolutionary book and the customs officer didn't like it or me. But after a while he decided that I was probably a harmless sort of nut and he let both the book and me into this country.

I find on my return here that the customs officer's attitude is quite common. Most people regard you as a rather dangerous and revolutionary if you have been down to Washington. They try to humor you as one would humor a difficult child, or else they try to tell you that you are all wrong about the United States' New Deal before you have even mentioned it, or else they assume that because you have been away from here for a month or so you must have brought back some world-shaking truth, some inside information truly shocking.

RELIEF

AS A MATTER OF FACT, the only idea one can obtain on returning here is one of relief. It is a rather threadbare commonplace to say that it is good to be back in British Columbia, but there is something in it. It is a strange, exciting sensation to cross the mountains again after those bare prairies, where the dust storms hide the sky, after the pomposity of Ottawa, the amug complacency of Toronto, the stark madness of New York, the baffling merry-go-round of Washington. It is a relief to get back here and see some hills in the distance instead of a horizon of skyscrapers or a flat rim of prairie in the distance.

You don't realize until you are away from them for a while just how far the geography of this country, the ruggedness and irregularity of the place, have become part of your nature. And after a May snowstorm in Ottawa, followed by a day of terrific heat, after swimming in the breathless canyons of Manhattan and meeting away on Pennsylvania Avenue, one will never complain about the climate here again.

It is a great thing, too, to get back among people you understand, more or less, in the East you never understand them and they regard you as a dangerous barbarian, or a quaint yokel from the West. Perhaps they are right. But at least it is good to get back to a place where all the women don't wear scarlet finger nails to match their lips, where most of the men are badly dressed and comfortable. It is good to realize that Victoria, civilized as it may seem to us, fellows from the country, is really very rough and rustic, has managed so far to escape modern civilization, as they know it in the East, almost entirely.

CROP REPORT
BUT A DIRT FARMER really has no right to go jangling through the stultifying East and talking with statesmen in the spring time. He should be at home looking after his crops. Before I left I worked day and night to establish a vegetable garden and assure myself of a food supply against the time when I should return here, destitute. This latter part of the programme has worked out exactly as anticipated, but there is no food supply; only a vast field of weeds, between which you can find, if you crawl on hands and knees, a few frail onions, a radish or two, struggling.

TAX REDUCTIONS

To the Editor:—It is really amusing to say the least, in reading your valuable paper to-night, to note the extremes those who are at the head of affairs will go to raise, or lower taxes as the case may be. On page one, I find that the B.C. Economic Council are studying the question "Shall the tax on fuel-oil be increased 2 cents per gallon?" The object is to put the miners back to work. They must well know, that if the coal barons at the mines would bring the price of coal down to an honest price it would solve the problem immediately.

What do they care about the miner? It is a profit with them, and still more profit. Then again on page 10 the B.C. Liquor Board have reduced the price of beer 40 cents per dozen, and is considering the further reduction of this commodity. Again this does not help the man who drinks by the glass, but tends to sell more beer wholesale for the beer barons. Why in the name of common sense cannot those at the head of affairs stop this nonsense and get down to honest business? They have the remedy in their own hands without inflicting a burden on the other fellow's shoulder. FRANK EBORALL

A FREE TRADE PORT

To the Editor:—A short time ago you published a letter from Mr. Smith Curtis, a former cabinet minister of British Columbia, who in a brief and concise way, urged the location of a free port at Victoria. Last week you published from the pen of Mr. J. Moxam a more detailed and very instructive account of the need of a free port area or zone. May I supplement these with the hope that our administrative bodies will give this matter the attention it deserves. A bonded warehouse is for the purpose of enabling an importer to carry over his dutiable obligations in accord with market demands. A lumber assembling plant is for the purpose of avoiding a possible demurrage on coastal plants, and also enabling inland mills to engage in seaborne traffic.

A free trade zone or area is for the more equitable distribution of goods subject to conditions, and as Mr. Moxam states it in no way affects tariff structures; in fact it may be classed as both a semi-bonded warehouse and a branch house of both the commercial and manufacturer of international trade. Let me illustrate: The daily trade in New York of a certain line of Asiatic goods amounts to a million dollars. It does not matter whether this is individual or collective, and the time to secure goods, say from Japan, takes at least sixteen days. This would compel them to carry a $16,000,000 stock, but as they have four or more direct lines to Japan they could get along with probably a $5,000,000 stock, which is both excessive and costly. With a free trade zone at Victoria and daily rail communication they could receive goods daily and the supplement it by water transportation through the Panama Canal. This same rule applies to all exports and imports, not only from the Atlantic seaboard, but from Australia, which has but a thirty-day service to Canada, as well as exports to Asia. This is not a local issue, but must appeal

Opera Group Names Officers For Year

Harry J. Davis Re-elected at Annual Meeting Yesterday Evening; Production of Operas Costly Proposition

Harry J. Davis was yesterday evening re-elected president of the Victoria Operatic Society at its fourth annual meeting held in the club headquarters on Rockland Avenue. Mr. Davis has been president of the society since it was formed in 1930. Reports read at the meeting showed the society was in a better position, financially, than it was at this time last year.

Mr. Davis, in his presidential report touched on the activities of the society during the last season, when "The Mikado" and "The Yeomen of the Guard" were produced. The former made a profit, he said, but the latter was produced at a loss, the society about breaking even on the two shows. The calibre of both operas had been of the highest, Mr. Davis said, and he congratulated all those who had had any part in them.

The president urged the members to get right behind the executive committee and the musical production, mentioning especially the September 1934 production of "The Mikado." He thanked all those who had worked so hard for the success of the productions, mentioning especially the press. Miss Doreen Daniels, who won the oratorio class, and Miss Phyllis Deaville, who won the operatic class in the recent Musical Festival, were congratulated by Mr. Davis. Miss Daniels and Miss Deaville are members of the society.

GENERAL EXECUTIVE

At the social evening held Monday night approximately 250 delegates and guests were present. Speakers included Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands; Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P.; Vancouver, and Miss Mabel D. Doud, president of the supreme chapter.

A musical programme was presented by the P.E.O. ensemble, Mrs. Catherine Band, Miss Oliver Gregg, Miss Lavinia Roberts and Miss Mabel Brown. Vocal solos were presented also by Mrs. Velma Cannon. During the evening a play was presented by members of the local chapter depicting the aims and ideals of the sisterhood.

Eva M. McDuffee, Vancouver, president over the seasons. Among the guests at the convention is Miss Ruth E. Stotler, president of the Washington state chapter.

KING'S DAUGHTERS AND SONS MEET

Many Delegates at Triennial Meeting in Montreal

Canadian Press, May 31.—From many parts of Canada and the United States came to Montreal to-day seventy-four delegates to the fourteenth triennial convention of the Order of the King's Daughters and Sons in the Dominion of Canada.

A review of the work in the provinces was detailed: Relief and social service were given in Battleford, Sask. In British Columbia the work of the King's Daughters Hospital at Duncan was detailed. The work of its administration had to be placed in other hands, Victoria and Vancouver both maintain convalescent homes.

In honor of Miss Nan Campbell, whose marriage will take place in June, a miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Harry Smith at her home on Lang Street, assisted by Mrs. H. Macdonald, recently. The gifts were concealed in a decorated basket. During the evening games were played, the winners being Mrs. W. Smith and Miss Thelma Ostler. Refreshments were served at the table, centred with a silver bowl of pale pink rose buds. The invited members of the order, Mrs. Campbell, included Mesdames W. Campbell, L. Ostler, W. Marry, J. Smith, Bill Campbell, E. Marry, W. Smith, E. Viggers, Phil Hume, Stubbins, Mr. Ron Morley, Mrs. Sydney Hole, Mr. T. L. CHAPTERS HELP NAVY LEAGUE

Work of I.O.D.E. Commended at Annual Convention

Canadian Press, May 31.—Commendation for the various chapters in Navy League work was given to-day by Mrs. R. A. Wood, of Halifax, in presenting the report of the committee to the National Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, at the annual conference here to-day.

At the annual meeting of the Navy League Branch in Vancouver, said the convener, prizes were presented boys for general proficiency, and two members of the order were awarded Navy League life memberships.

During the year, said Mrs. Wood, chapters in Canada voted approximately $2,072 for various welfare purposes.

The award for the best "press report" went to the Hugh Cairns, V.C. Chapter of Saskatchewan. Special mention was made of the scrap book submitted by the Duncan Dogwoods Chapter of Duncan, B.C., the only junior chapter in the contest.

Mrs. G. E. Knechtel of Edmonton, reported fourteen new chapters, including "Jeanne Mance," Calgary; "Major N. L. Gaetz," Red Deer, Alta.; "Larkin Johnston," Powell River, B.C.; "Colonel French," Edmonton, and "Arrow Lakes," Burton, B.C.

Woolworth Heiress May Go Back to New York Without Husband

Associated Press, May 31.—Franklin L. Hutton has arranged room accommodations for his daughter, Princess Barbara Hutton Midvian, to return to New York with him June 9, but has not provided accommodations for her husband, Prince Alexis Midvian.

Hutton will arrive here to-morrow. His arrangements for the return became known to-day.

He was understood to be planning a quick trip to London, where his daughter now is staying. There he is expected to join her and bring her with him back to the return voyage liner Bremen for the return voyage.

P.E.O. CHAPTERS IN CONVENTION

New Westminster, May 31.—With delegates attending from the fifteen chapters of the P.E.O. Sisterhood throughout British Columbia, the sixth bi-annual convention of the provincial chapter is being held in the Masonic Temple.

At the social evening held Monday night approximately 250 delegates and guests were present. Speakers included Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands; Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P.; Vancouver, and Miss Mabel D. Doud, president of the supreme chapter.

A musical programme was presented by the P.E.O. ensemble, Mrs. Catherine Band, Miss Oliver Gregg, Miss Lavinia Roberts and Miss Mabel Brown. Vocal solos were presented also by Mrs. Velma Cannon. During the evening a play was presented by members of the local chapter depicting the aims and ideals of the sisterhood.

Suitable Policy For Handling
Immigration Needed By I.O.D.E.

Canadian Press
Toronto, May 31.—The time is at hand for the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire to study conditions and "prepare to adopt a suitable policy when immigration is resumed," said the report of the immigration committee presented to-day by Miss R. Joseph of Quebec City.

British Columbia reported giving of naturalization certificates this year mostly by visiting persons in their homes, though Trail presented seventy-two at a public ceremony.

"It is particularly gratifying," said the report, "to know that the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire have been able to assist in the hearts and homes of the Mennonite colony in their district and the convener has discovered that the Mennonites possess refinement and culture in no way second to that of which we are so proud to boast."

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Profanity and slang crop up as surely as the child acquires years. Profanity is the bomb of the three to four-year-old. Always, so says his mother, he picks it up from the neighbor's children.

ALWAYS "OTHER CHILD"
One mother writes: "Since playing with the neighboring children this spring, my three and one-half-year-old boy has acquired some startling profanity and vulgar phrases. His playmates are supposed to be nice children. I wouldn't deprive him of companionship but some of these terms seem a bit too much to ignore."

Most mothers are sure that it is the other fellow who thinks up the profane terms. Perhaps so, but every child of this age, unless kept in a cage, is certain to hear terms used with great gusto and zest, and he in turn uses them likewise. If profanity is used at home, the child will naturally imitate it.

He also endeavors to deride his elders by the use of those same degrading terms with which children address each other. He has no sense of the actual meaning of such terms and is usually pretty surprised when his elders seem to resent this enormity. The phrases are used in the manner in which they are used in the home and inspiring to the child.

SHOW THE LIGHT
Some children can be shown that they create a very unhappy impression when they use terms which to adult ears sound not only unpleasantly smart, but vulgar. They may be shown that it is not in truth very smart to use words without knowing their meaning, and that until they know, it is better to stick to ordinary words which they do understand.

But the fact remains that when we are prepared for some use of profanity at three to five, in any neighborhood and in any group, an outbreak of "pig-latin" in the grades and an outcropping of slang at the adolescent period, we can be more placid in ignoring them. We may expect also that such language having served a purpose, children will talk themselves into and out of its use.

NEW CARDINALS
Vatican City, May 31 (Associated Press).—Prelates revealed to-day that the Pope will convene a consistory during the latter part of June, at which he will create several new cardinals and deliver an important allocution on world affairs. It is believed in Vatican City the Pontiff will speak particularly on German affairs.

E. S. FARR, of the Department of History in Victoria College will address the British Columbia Historical Association to-morrow on the "Written Constitutions, Dominion and Provincial." The meeting will be held upstairs in the Provincial Library at 8 p.m. Young men and women are invited. Any member of the council will be glad to propose those interested, for membership.

He proposed a system of contributory health insurance developed by the provinces with the Dominion government assisting. Dr. Fleming said the population was divided into three groups, well-to-do, middle class or wage-earners and indigents.

Live and Grow Healthy On 27 Cents' Food a Day

"Wholesome and Adequate"
Menu Worked Out By Nutrition Professor For Family of Five at Cost of $9.45 a Week

New York, May 31.—A menu for a family of five costing $9.45 a week and two daily menus for individuals costing less than 50 cents each have just been worked out at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

The family food schedule, developed by Dr. Grace MacLeod, professor of Nutrition, with the co-operation of students, provides 12,900 calories a day for a family consisting of mother, father and three children, aged fifteen, nine and five years. Twenty-seven cents a day is allowed for food for each member of the family.

MEALS FOR A DAY
A typical day's menu follows:
Breakfast—Cereal with bananas, milk and sugar. Toast and butter. Glass of milk for each child. Coffee for adults with top milk and sugar.
Luncheon—Macaroni and cheese. Stewed tomatoes. Bread and butter. Glass of milk for children and adults.
Dinner—Liver loaf. Potatoes, baked or creamed. Cabbage and carrot salad, dressing of top milk, sugar, vinegar. Gingerbread with whipped evaporated milk. Glass of milk for each child. Coffee for adults, using top milk and sugar.

"We know that this menu would satisfy the food requirements of an average family of five," Dr. MacLeod said. "It is wholesome and adequate. In computing the cost we deliberately chose foods that were of average cost rather than shopping for the lowest prices we could find. With a little care, the cost per day could be reduced."

Children should have at least a quart of milk a day and adults not less than a pint, Dr. MacLeod said. The cereals for the day should be about half whole grain and half refined. Food purchased to make up the day's menu includes:
Seven ounces, whole wheat cereal, 8 oz. white bread 19 oz. whole wheat bread, 6 oz. white flour, 8 oz. macaroni, 2 qts. whole milk, 4 2-3 cups evaporated milk, 2 lbs. potatoes, 2 oz. onions, 1 can tomatoes, 5 1/4 oz. cabbage, 2 1/2 oz. carrots, 5 medium sized bananas, 1/4 lb. butter, 4 tablespoons cod liver oil, 2 1/2 tablespoons lard, 1/4 cup molasses, 7 oz. sugar, 12 oz. beef liver, 2 eggs, 2 oz. cheese, 5 tablespoons coffee.

MENUS FOR INDIVIDUALS
Of the two individual menus one is for men at forty-nine cents a day and the other for women at forty-four cents a day.

The forty-nine-cent menu for a man requiring 3,000 calories per day, includes:

Breakfast (in room)—One pint milk, one-fourth loaf whole wheat bread, two bananas.
Lunch (in cafeteria)—Glass of milk, whole wheat raisin bread and butter, macaroni and cheese, buttered carrots and peas.

Supper (in room)—One pint milk, one-fourth pound graham crackers, one package raisins, one orange.
The forty-four-cent menu for a woman requiring 2,400 calories was made up of:

Breakfast (in room)—One pint milk, one shredded wheat biscuit, one banana, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon cod liver oil.

Lunch (in cafeteria)—Vegetable chowder, whole wheat raisin bread and butter, stuffed egg and watercress salad, glass of milk.

Supper (in room)—One pint milk flavored with chocolate syrup, one-fourth loaf whole wheat bread, one orange.

"These menus furnish the people for whom they were planned all the dietary essentials for a day at low cost," said Dr. MacLeod. "They are recommended for anybody who must live on a small income, but who, in spite of having only a small amount of money to spend on food, still wishes to be adequately nourished."

SCARLET FEVER ELIMINATED

Through Immunization Disease Disappears in Toronto Hospital

Canadian Press
Toronto, May 31.—Scarlet fever has been eliminated from the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children through immunization measures, Dr. Beverly Hannah of the hospital staff reported to the Ontario Medical Association Convention to-day.

Results of the prevention and control had been under investigation in the hospital for nine years, he said, and it had been shown that the disease could be eliminated not only from the wards but from the nursing staff, physicians and attendants.

on whether doctors should protect each other in cases of mistaken diagnosis came from many physicians at a round-table conference last night. No definite action was taken and the question is to be considered by the executive.

The particular question debated was whether a surgeon should protect a physician when upon operating he discovered the diagnosis to be wrong.

"Never let us run down the other fellow's diagnosis and treatment," was the verdict of the committee on inter-relations, presented by Dr. A. Gillies, Fort William.

"How often has it happened," the report continued, "that patients have come to us with incomplete and distorted (often intentionally) statements supposed to have been made by a doctor at a previous consultation."

"It is a popular misconception with the laity that no matter what a doctor does, the other doctors will back him up and that they have very little chance for redress, even in cases of flagrant malpractice. We ourselves are to blame for this attitude but the physician or surgeon should not

by BEULAH POYNTER

"Don't," she said sharply, drawing away. Then she called over her shoulder, "Coming, Mad?"
"Can't you stir a step without her?" he asked.
"I can, but I don't want to."
Already many performers were seated at the long, white-covered tables eating breakfast. Luke Renfro, owner of the circus, and his wife, Mattie, who was billed as "La Belle Metilde, Supreme Equestrienne of the World," sat at a smaller table with the star clown, a saturnine, middle-aged man who answered to the name of De Luca.
Gradually the circus lot took on the appearance of a nomad city. Banners were flying and tents scattered about. Peanut and lemonade stands were erected. A smaller tent beside the "big top" was converted into dozens of dressing-rooms. Nets were unfolded, tight ropes, bars and rings were clamped into place with infinite care. As the paraphernalia for each act was produced the owner gave it minute inspection. A loose screw or a rope missing might mean death or permanent injury. Animals were fed and watered.

Donna, following her unvarying custom, went to the dressing-room she shared with Madeline and two others, and laid out her wardrobe. Then she slipped into cotton tights and a sweater and crossed to the big tent. For an hour she "limbered up." Hand springs, "cats backs" and somersaults left her warm and glowing and certain of her strength. Upon her agility depended her own life and Madeline's. Donna was utterly without fear for herself but more than once the other girl's reckless instability had struck terror in her heart, causing her to wonder if she had been wise in her choice of a partner.
Madeline had proven strong, supple and fearless. After a year of minor vaudeville houses she was ready for circus life. She would never be the acrobat Donna was, for Donna's muscles had been trained from babyhood, but Madeline gave satisfaction in all that was required of her. Donna, still crushed with grief and without curiosity, had asked few questions of her partner and it was not until they had been together almost three years that Madeline confessed she had run away from her home and that the story she had told of long experience in the theatre was untrue.

Five years had passed since the girls' first meeting. As Donna left the tent that morning she was certain that another five years would not see them together. In spite of her warning she saw Madeline standing in the bright sunlight in close conversation with Ned Trafford, the boss canvasman. "There's no excuse for it," Donna muttered angrily. "She doesn't care anything about him. It just flatters her to have a big brute like Trafford in love with her. She'll cut out the philanthropist or I'll speak to Renfro."
Already the band was tuning up, the callopie steaming and in position for the parade. Donna hurriedly dressed in the crimson velvet riding habit that was her parade costume and took her place on a snowy mare in the cavalcade.
As she bent to pat the sleek coat of the animal, Madeline called her name. She handed Donna a slip of paper and said, "Read it when you get a chance."
Donna glanced at the written page. "Dear Madeline," she read in a quivering, uncertain scrawl, "I see by what you have written me that you will be in Lebanon Saturday. Surely the circus does not give performances on Sunday and you will be free on the Lord's Day. It's been five years since I've seen you, and my heart aches to hear your voice again. If I send Bill Siddal to town for you won't you come out to visit us? I'm an old man and I'm a lot more feeble than when you left home. Maybe I won't be here another year. I won't say anything about what has happened nor anything to rile you if you'll come, but you're my closest kin and when one is as old as I am he wants to be close to the ones he loves. Your Grandfather."
There was no opportunity to discuss the letter until at luncheon two hours later. Then Donna asked "What are you going to do about it?"
"I don't know. What would you do?"
"Go, of course. I don't see how you can refuse!"
Madeline's eyes narrowed and she studied Donna with a queer little smile on her lips. "Why don't you?"
"What?"
"I mean it. Five years ago I was a country kid with my hair in pig-tails. I don't look much like I did then—not nearly as much as I do like you now. Granddad is half blind and he'd never know the difference. You might get a kick out of the farm and I'd be bored stiff. There isn't a neighbor that would recognize me and I've never seen this Bill Siddal he mentions. Bill's some sort of a second cousin who works for granddad. Do it, Donna! Let me write him I'm coming and you go in my place."
It was a temptation. Donna admitted. "I've never been on a farm—or in a real home, for that matter. But it doesn't seem honest."
"Why not? I won't go. I'd be afraid granddad might pull some trick to keep me there. If he tried that with you you could tell him the truth. If you don't do it I'll write him I can't come."
"You mean that?"
"Absolutely."
"His letter is sweet," Donna mused, her eyes soft and luminous. "I can't imagine him doing anything horrid."
"You don't know him. Well—" "I'll think about it."
That night Madeline wrote the letter of acceptance that was to change the entire course of both girls' lives.
It was Saturday afternoon. A brazen sun beat with furious intensity upon the milling throngs, pushing and shoving through lanes of grey canvas, peanut stands, flying banners and wooden platforms where "barkers" announced the wonders on view inside.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson Tells Vancouver Audience of Road Plans
Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 31.—Hon. G. M. Weir, British Columbia Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary, assailed critics of the Special Powers Act when he addressed members of the South Main Street Liberal Association yesterday evening.
Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, was also a guest of honor at the banquet, primarily arranged in honor of Dr. Weir and his two Liberal colleagues from Vancouver—Point Grey, S. S. McKee, M.P.P., and Robert Wilkinson, M.P.P.
"I think Premier Bennett wants to play the game with us at the present time," Dr. Weir said. He admitted it was quite true the Dominion could disallow almost any act passed by a provincial legislature, but said it was rarely done and he did not think it would be done in this case.
PREMIER BUSIEST MAN
"We have been doing more than talk economic theories," Dr. Weir said in speaking of the government's action since assuming office. "Don't criticize us on the ground that we are not trying. Premier Pattullo is the hardest working man in British Columbia, and all his ministers are working sixteen hours a day."
The B.N.A. Act is old, broken down, it was "built to fit conditions of seventy years ago" and conditions have changed. No wonder we needed an SPA.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"
FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1934
Conflicting planetary aspects are discerned for to-day, according to astrology. It is a time good for leaders in business and politics, but for all other people the day may bring apprehension or uncertainty.
The month is subject to the beneficent rays of Jupiter and Venus and should bring success and prosperity in many fields of activity.
Important conferences in which the United States and England will be interested are prophesied. Later treaties of great promise for English-speaking countries are forecast.
Disturbing forces will be at work to retard progress in industry in the United States, where labor is warned to beware of similar influences.
Workers are subject to a fairly favorable planetary government, but the sun's rays may find new obstacles in their way.
Whatever pertains to building is well directed by the stars. Tremendous construction enterprises are to be of future value to the nation in ways not at present emphasized, astrologers announce.
The stars favor defence measures and which is to have a peculiar interest in naval manoeuvres, it is foretold.
Girls are warned that this is not a lucky day for romance. Engagements made to-day may be quite disappointing.
Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much pleasure and success may be expected by many. Courtship may be rather perilous.
Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly imaginative and adventurous. Subjects of this sign usually are optimistic and able to accomplish the most difficult plans.
Charles Davenport, zoologist, was born on this day, 1864. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Brigham Young, Mormon leader, 1801; and Eber Tourneur, musician, 1834.

ACTUAL VALUE OF EDUCATION

Survey Indicates College Men Have Biggest Earning Powers

To determine the actual financial value of a college education, disregarding the cultural and social advantages involved, Dr. Everett W. Lord of Boston University, conducted a nation-wide survey in the United States with the assistance of the Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity.

From averages secured by interviewing many thousands of individuals carefully selected from all walks of life, the following information was obtained:

The average untrained boy goes to work at age fourteen. He reaches his maximum income of about $1,700 a year at age forty. From fourteen to sixty he earns a total of $84,000.

The average high school graduate goes to work at age eighteen. He passes the untrained man within ten years and reaches his maximum income of $2,800 at age fifty. By age sixty, he has earned a total of $88,000, according to figures issued in connection with life insurance work preceding this week.

The college man begins his career about age twenty-two. Before he is thirty, however, he has caught up with the man who started to work four years earlier. At sixty, his income is $6,000 to $8,000 a year. His total earnings at age sixty are $160,000 to $200,000.

From these averages, it is evident that in the past, the four years spent in high school has been worth $24,000 in increased lifetime earnings. An additional four years spent in college, however, has been worth in the neighborhood of $100,000 in increased lifetime earnings.

The general trend is such as to increase this differential rather than diminish it. Any straight-thinking parent who considers these facts in the light of his own son's future, cannot fail but reach the conclusion that a college education will be worth almost any sacrifice in order to assure it.

In the case of a daughter, the situation is practically unchanged. A college education brings the same cultural, financial and social advantages to a girl that it brings to a boy. Should she be planning a career for herself, as many girls do these days, a college education is just as necessary as for a boy, perhaps even more so, as business seems to demand more training from a girl than from the average man.

Should a girl prefer a career as homemaker, at first glance it might seem that a college education is not so necessary. But upon second thought, it is apparent that a college education gives her an overwhelming advantage. The college girl will, in almost every case, marry a college-trained man. Thus, automatically, she places herself on a higher plane, socially, culturally and financially.

NO NICKEL BEER AS YET

Ontario and Alberta Brewers Dampen Federal Finance Minister's Statement

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 31.—There is no chance of Ontario's getting nickel beer unless there is a further and drastic reduction in taxes, particularly those imposed by the province, Edward P. Taylor, president of the Brewing Corporation of Canada, said in commenting on Hon. E. N. Rhodes' announcement of a reduction in the tax on malt.

Mr. Taylor said Ontario brewers had no agreement with Ottawa that a reduction would result in nickel beer.

Calgary, May 31.—Calgary brewers are in hope of five-cent a glass beer in Alberta following the reduction in the tax on malt announced at Ottawa.

"The decrease of 1½ cents a pound in malt, which amounts to only 3½ cents a gallon on beer, renders it impossible at present to reduce the price of five cents a glass," said J. B. Cross, president of the Calgary Brewing and Malting Company Limited, today. Other brewers were of the same opinion.

Mr. Cross, however, thought the decrease would aid in the export to distant points and increase employment in the breweries.

COWICHAN WINS FROM ARDMORE

Duncan, May 31.—In a friendly match between the Cowichan Club and the Ardmore Club, played at Duncan Tuesday afternoon, the home team won by 2½ to 3½.

R. SANDERSON IS ELECTED

Succeeds H. D. Evans As President of Duncan Chamber of Commerce

Special to The Times

Duncan, May 31.—The annual general meeting of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce was held at the Cook Cat Restaurant on Tuesday evening. In place of the president, H. D. Evans, who was unavoidably absent, the chair was taken by H. P. Prevost. A standing vote of sympathy was passed to Mr. Evans on the recent death of his father.

The president's report of the year's activities was read and adopted, also the financial statement.

Election of officers for the year resulted as follows:

President, Robert Sanderson; vice-president, Major Rattray; secretary, A. H. Peterson; council, Messrs. Philbrook, Dunne, Westwood, Suddaby, Macdonald, Carbery, Prest, Young, Redgrave, W. E. Christmas, Wallace Whidden and E. G. Sanford and all past presidents ex-officio.

The new president and vice-president were sworn in by Mayor Prevost. Arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates to the twelfth convention to be held in Duncan during Sweet Pea Festival Week, were discussed and left in the hands of the incoming executive.

The resolution introduced by Major Rattray in respect to fishing regulations will be drafted and forwarded to the Associated Boards of Trade.

YEAST LONG KNOWN AID IN DIET AND GROWTH

But Average Meal Contains Enough Vitamin B to Cause Doubt Whether Substance Is Needed as Extra Health Builder

By DR. MORRIS FISHBAIN

You do more than bake bread with yeast, nowadays. In fact, yeast has been touted as such a panacea for human illnesses that you might want to know actually what this substance really has in it and what it accomplishes.

As long ago as 1500 B.C., yeast was recommended by the Egyptians for constipation. It also was mentioned in the writings of most ancient physicians. However, the real qualities of yeast are still being studied in the light of our new knowledge of chemistry and nutrition.

For instance, what we know about vitamins is only a matter of some fifteen or twenty years. To-day, we know that yeast is made up of several vitamins which are of particular value in preventing pellagra and beriberi, a disease associated with inflammation of the nerves.

It has always seemed doubtful, however, that most Americans needed extra yeast in their diets, because the average American diet contains enough fresh vegetables, fresh fruits, and meats to provide an adequate amount of vitamin B.

Unfortunately, such studies have not been made of the diet of people living in industrial and mining communities to make certain that they actually do receive all the foods they need.

Some physicians in a large city in Michigan found that the diets of workers were mostly beans, coffee, bread, Irish potatoes, pork, grocery store cakes, and enough canned milk and sugar to flavor the coffee.

That kind of diet obviously is deficient in the vitamins to be found in yeast.

The investigators decided to test the effects of feeding yeast on the children of these workers, and also to feed extra yeast to some who had complained of loss of appetite or difficulties in digestion.

It was found that eighty-four children between the ages of two months and fourteen years gained an average of a quarter pound a week over a twelve-week period, as contrasted with seventy-eight children who did not take yeast and who gained an average of one-eighth pound a week over the same period.

Most of those who had been troubled with lack of appetite found their digestion improved when they took small amounts of yeast daily. Apparently no one was harmed in any way by addition of yeast to the diet.

Investigations of this type help to establish the values of yeast that have long been recognized in medicine. Do not take this, however, as proving that yeast is in any sense of the word a panacea for all types of illness.

The great difficulty with the American attitude toward any substance of this kind is the all or nothing policy. We fail to recognize the limit of uses of a certain substance, but endeavor instead to establish the belief that if it is good for one thing, it is good for everything.

BUILDING TOTAL LEAPS UPWARD

New Construction Contracts
Let in May Largest For Two and One-half Years

Toronto, May 31.—The total value of contracts awarded in Canada for the month of May, as compiled by MacLean Building Reports Limited, amounted to $17,581,217, making the total for the year to date $48,707,800. These figures, as compared with those for 1933, register a 167 per cent increase over the May, 1933, total of $5,514,100, and a 94 per cent increase over the five months' total of $24,826,100. April awards totaled $11,469,200, so that we have an increase of 51 per cent over the previous month.

There has been a steady increase from month to month since the beginning of the year. Moreover, the May total is larger than for any month in 1932 or 1933, and, in fact, since November, 1931.

METROPOLIS TO CHANGE HANDS

Horace Beer Announces
Poodle Dog Cafe Will Be Moved on June 1

Removal of the Poodle Dog Cafe to the quarters now occupied by the Metropolis Cafe has been announced by Horace Beer, manager, who stated the change would become effective June 1. The quarters at 615 Yates Street, at present operated by Mr. Beer, will be dispensed with and the new premises will operate under the name of the Poodle Dog and Metropolis Cafe.

Mr. Beer stated he was making the change to accommodate an increasing number of patrons, who necessitates the taking over of the more modern establishment for improved service.

Established in the city more than fifty years ago, the Poodle Dog is one of the oldest cafes in the city, and since its construction here it has operated under various managers. Mr. Beer worked for eight years as chef of the cafe before he took it over, and during the last few years as manager he has built up an enviable reputation among restaurant owners of the Pacific Coast.

The proprietors, before Mr. Beer were C. H. Chamberlaine and F. Graham, present joint operators of the Metropolis.

TELL DETAILS OF ACCIDENT

Sergeant J. Kemp
Convicted of Intoxication Count
After Crash

Details of an accident on the Island Highway about 5 o'clock on the morning of May 2, alleged to have been caused by a woman who accelerated the car when it was rounding a curve by placing her foot on top of the driver's, were heard in the provincial court yesterday when Sgt. John Kemp, Work Point Barracks, was convicted on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. He was fined $25 and $2 costs. Carew Martin, defence counsel, intimated the decision would be appealed.

According to the evidence of Leslie R. Green, taxi-driver, Sergeant Kemp and a girl had gone to the Chanticleer Inn on the Island Highway about 1 o'clock on the morning in question. About 4:30 o'clock Green was summoned to bring them back to town. When he was receiving his passengers they appeared to have been arguing and intoxicated. They both got in the front seat, despite mild protest from him. On the way in, hearing the four-mile hill, the girl, whom he had since learned was named Bobby Bruce, had placed her foot on top of his and accelerated the car. It left the road, landed in a ditch at the side and stopped when it struck a telephone pole.

Sergeant Kemp told how he had extricated himself from the wreck to find his companions gone. He had then sought aid at a home near the Six-mile House, arriving there at about 8 o'clock after a sleep in a nearby woodshed. He denied having been intoxicated.

Constable H. P. Hughes and Major Dr. J. E. Hunter testified they had seen Kemp at the station hospital at Work Point at about 9 o'clock. He appeared to the constable to be just coming out of a drunken stupor, while the doctor admitted he had told the constable the sergeant had been drinking. His injuries consisted of severe cuts about the face and legs.

Sgt. Richard Harvey conducted the prosecution.

INQUIRY INTO REFINANCING

Commons Committee Asks
Information on Burns and
Co. Affairs

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 31.—The $14,000,000 refinancing of the huge packing business of Burns and Company will be aired before the parliamentary price spreads inquiry committee tomorrow.

The Dominion Securities Corporation Limited, which handled the refinancing, has been requested to have a witness on hand to-morrow for questioning on the sale of $6,900,000 preferred shares. John Burns, Calgary, nephew of Senator Pat Burns who controlled the company before the refinancing in 1928, will be another witness.

"I have received a number of complaints from Toronto in reference to these preferred shares," Sam Factor, Liberal, Toronto-West Centre, stated. An auditor's report of the Burns Company was read by committee counsel.

The added appreciation in value of the assets on the refinancing was a net sum of $4,985,007, the auditors report to the committee showed. The new company was financed by the sale of $7,000,000 first mortgage $4 per cent twenty-year sinking fund bonds due in 1949, $6,900,000 6 per cent cumulative redeemable preferred shares; $99,997 common shares, making a total of $14,000,000. The sum of $12,900,018 was received from the sale of these bonds and shares.

ASSETS APPRAISED

An appraisal of the assets of the company was made early in 1928 by the Canadian Appraisal Company Limited, the committee's auditors reported.

These valuations were used as a basis for the sale of the company by P. Burns through the Dominion Securities Corporation Limited to Burns and Company Limited. A portion of the assets was retained by P. Burns and certain liabilities were assumed by him, the report stated.

MARKET PRICES

Calgary and Toronto market quotations on cattle were also touched on by the auditors. Eric Richardson and Graves, Calgary chartered accountants. "During the course of our investigation of the prevailing market prices for the periods being tested," they reported, "we noted that practically without exception the spread in price between the Calgary and Toronto quotations was less than the freight from Calgary to Toronto. Officials of the Burns Company advise us that this is due to purchases by eastern companies in the western markets at slightly higher than prevailing eastern market prices after deducting freight charges."

CIRCULAR IS CHALLENGED

Saanich Ratepayers Claim
Council's Statements Regarding Relief Are Wrong

Accuracy of certain statements contained in a circular dealing with the relief question, issued by the Saanich Council, was challenged at a meeting of the Ward Two Non-political Ratepayers' Association yesterday evening when a general vote of disapproval was passed on the circular.

A claim that the council had endorsed the action of the relief committee this far this year and that members of the council were in unanimous agreement with the facts set out in the statement, was alleged to be inaccurate.

The document claimed thirty-eight men had been struck off relief, while it was claimed Councilor E. C. Warren read an official list showing the number to be fifty-two.

The meeting also claimed it was unjust to ask the men to walk great distances to work as many of them were forced to do. This was particularly deplored by O. B. Ormond, who said it was inhuman.

A vote of sympathy in favor of the unemployed's request for adequate relief was passed by the meeting, and it was further decided that when report of the municipality's affairs was to be given, it should come from the reeve and the ward council and not through a circular.

Washington, May 31 (Associate Press).—President Roosevelt yesterday signed an order extending indefinitely the United States steel code in a revised form. The President approved the new code after a half-hour conference with Donald Richer, NRA general counsel.

WHAT HAS GOODYEAR DONE TO MAKE THE NEW PATHFINDER THE TIRE SURPRISE OF THE YEAR?
(SEE THE NEW FULL CENTRE-TRACTION PATHFINDER AT ANY GOODYEAR DEALER)

YOU HAVE TO SEE IT TO BELIEVE IT!

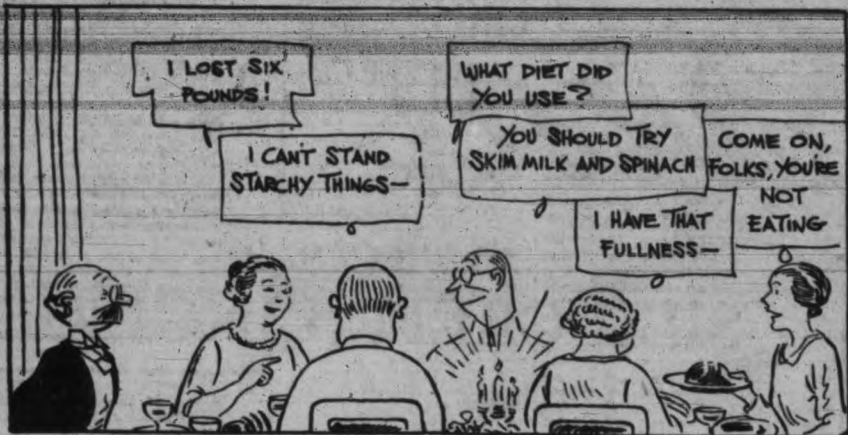

THE TIRE SURPRISE OF YOUR LIFE is waiting for you — Goodyear's new Pathfinder. When you are shown this new tire you will conclude you are looking at the most expensive tire made. You'll see a centre-tread pattern never equalled for firm traction — a flatter tread and broader non-skid shoulders — thicker rubber to give 25% more tread wear than formerly — a tire oversize in all dimensions — the handsomest and by all odds the best tire in its price class!

But what you see is only half the story. The inner carcass of the Pathfinder is actually heavier and stronger than most top-price tires of other makes. Goodyear's exclusive Supertwist cords put sinewy toughness into the Pathfinder which yields greater mileage. Two cord breaker-strips under the tread — sometimes called "extra plies."

Prices on the new Pathfinder are not higher, but 10% to 15% lower than the prices of so-called "standard" tires... in fact they are very little higher than the prices of risky "bargain" tires.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think a man and woman after being married thirty years can still be in love with each other? I married a lovely girl, pretty, affectionate, fine principled, high class in every way, everything a man should want, yet I do not love her, although she has been the finest wife and mother there could possibly be. The only reason we stick together is the duty to our children. I admit I have not taken her out as many husbands do their wives, nor paid her much attention, and, although she never says so, I think she just tolerates me for duty's sake. Why is this? A MAN.

Answer—Of course, a man and woman can still be in love with each other after they have been married thirty years. I know one blessed old couple, personal friends of mine, who have been married nearly sixty-eight years and are still as romantically in love as they were on their wedding day.

Time kills a feeble love, but it strengthens a great love, and there are thousands upon thousands of husbands and wives who grow more and more devoted to each other the longer they live together. Not long ago I heard a man say: "I was very much in love with my wife when I married her, or at least I thought I was, but I didn't love her as all compared with the devotion I now feel for her. If she had died while she was a bride I would have grieved for her deeply and sincerely, but I should have got over it in time. But now if she should die it would wreck me body and soul, because she has become my life and if she were taken from me I would have nothing left. She is my whole world."

A great many middle-aged people who are unromantic-looking and who would never dream of posing as great lovers feel that way about each other. During the passage of the years they have become all in all to each other and they are absolutely necessary to each other. Each has found in the other so much of goodness, so much of sweetness, so much of tenderness and loyalty that they admire each other far more than they did in their courting days.

Their experiences have knit them together until they are truly one. There is not a memory of a joy or sorrow that they do not share together, and so they have a perfect companionship. They are friends, comrades, lovers, as well as husband and wife.

But love is like everything else in the world that is worth having. It has to be cherished. It has to be cared for. It has to be nourished. You have to keep on feeding it if you want to keep it alive.

Most people seem to think that love is some sort of indestructible material that cannot be lost, that no one will steal, and that can be kicked around and misused for years and will still remain bright and shining, a thing of beauty and a joy forever around the premises.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Nothing is easier to lose than love, nothing easier to kill. Because a person loves you one day is no indication whatever that he or she will love you the next. To keep anyone in love with you, you must continually fire his or her fancy. You must continually keep yourself attractive and lovable. Love can be starved to death for lack of anything to feed upon. It can be frozen by coldness. It can be bored to extinction. It can even turn to hate if betrayed by the one it trusted.

For a husband and wife to keep in love with each other they must make a conscious effort to keep love alive. They must keep themselves personally attractive and they must make themselves agreeable to each other. They must be pleasant to live with. A fine man and woman cannot possibly remain in love with a slovenly woman or man who is offensive to look at and who revolts their taste. Nor can a sensitive man and woman keep in love with a wife or husband who says rude and insulting things, and who thinks it is not necessary to treat the other with even common-civility. No one loves a bully or a nagger or a shrew.

And, above all, a husband and wife who keep in love must not only keep themselves interesting but must make life interesting to the other. They must cultivate companionship and continually feed the fire of their affection with endearments.

DEAR MISS DIX—What do erring husbands think of their forgiving wives? Evelyn's husband fell desperately in love with another girl two years ago and told her all about it. (However, realizing unhappiness would be the only result of continuing the romance, he broke off with the girl and hasn't seen her since. Has never mentioned a word about her, never assured Evelyn he has finally forgotten her, and never told Evelyn that he realizes he loves her best after all. Wouldn't the wife be justified in turning to another man for the love her husband doesn't give her? Shouldn't she leave him? Isn't she foolish to let the best years of her life go by starving for affection? JOAN.

Answer—Doubtless a few erring husbands exalt their wives into angels for forgiving them. Probably a good many are grateful to their wives for having them from the mess of a divorce. But the majority of side-stepping husbands consider that their wives make entirely too much fuss about the matter, and that they have no cause to put on martyr airs about it. And sometimes the husbands don't want to be forgiven. They would like an excuse to get rid of their wives.

In the case you cite the husband appears to have been more prudent than romantic, so he probably is not brooding over his love for the girl he gave up. Certainly his silence on the subject is no indication of this, and it seems to me that Evelyn is unreasonable when she resents his not talking to her about it. It does not appear that the details of the husband's late love affair would be a topic of family conversation that would make for domestic peace and harmony.

There are many things that should be forgotten. Discussing them is simply like prodding a plume. You can turn it into a cancer if you keep picking at it. And certainly a husband's infidelities belong in this category. They should either be settled in the divorce court or buried under tons of silence. Many a wife ruins her forgiveness by always throwing it into her husband's teeth.

Because Evelyn's husband strayed off the straight and narrow path is no justification for her doing so. Two wrongs never yet made a right. She has her own conscience and her own good name and her personal self-respect to consider, and she will find a lot more happiness in preserving these than she will in trying to revenge herself on her husband.

If she is starving for the love that her husband doesn't give her, let her leave him and get a divorce and get the affection she craves honestly instead of stealing it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Bird

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily sat up in bed with a jump that nearly tossed him out upon the floor of his hollow stump bungalow. Oh, no, it wasn't because any of the Bad Chaps had climbed in his window. It was because, all of a sudden, Mr. Longears remembered he had promised to get up early and play golf with Mr. Twisttail, his fat pig friend.

"But I'm late!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily as he looked at the alarm clock on his bureau. "I should have been up at 8 o'clock and now it is nearly 9 o'clock. I didn't hear the alarm bell ring. I must have slept all the time it was ringing. 'It didn't ring, my dear,' called Mrs. Longears from the next room.

"You mean my alarm clock didn't go off?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"That's it, my dear," said his wife. "I forgot to tell you, but your alarm clock is broken. It ticks and rings time all right, but the bell doesn't ring when it should, after you set it."

"Then," said Uncle Wiggily as he began to dress, "that alarm clock is no good."

"Really it isn't," said his wife. "I meant to tell you last night when you spoke about setting it so you could get up early and go play with Mr. Twisttail. I'm sorry I forgot."

"Oh, that's all right," said Mr. Longears, twirling his pink nose. "He loved his wife. 'You couldn't help it,' I guess. 'Why won't you make me a little late. To-morrow I'll get a new alarm clock.' 'You, Wiggily, you are so good!' said his wife.

"By sliding down the banister railings and by quickly eating his breakfast of carrot shortcake and turnip coffee, Uncle Wiggily was able to get to the golf club before Mr. Twisttail had become tired of waiting.

"I'm just going to leave, though," said the fat pig gentleman. "I thought you had forgotten about our game, or that perhaps you didn't want to play."

"Oh, I want to play all right," said the rabbit handing his bag of golf clubs to a little frog boy who was a caddy.

"Then what made you so late?" asked Mr. Twisttail.

"My alarm clock didn't go off," answered Uncle Wiggily. "The bell didn't ring though I wound the spring. My wife forgot to tell me."

"Well, they've got me this time—IT'S NO USE FIGHTING BACK ANY MORE NOW—I GUESS I'M DONE FOR—"

"COME ON, DON'T LET THEM TIE YOU UP! YOU OLD BOY—KEEP UP THE OLD GUMP SPIRITS!"

"OH, UNCLE BIM—IF WE HAD A MILLION DOLLARS, WE'D GIVE IT TO YOU IN A MINUTE—BUT WE HAVEN'T IT—"

Uncle Wiggily's bird was a very little bird, not as small as the Hummingbird, but very tiny. The Wren was a 25-cent piece hole for his door. It was so small that he could put his paw in to claw out him or his wife or the little Wren babies. And no other bird, like a sparrow or hawk or his pet in through the quarter-size hole to the Wren cage. Many larger birds would like to have Wren eggs for breakfast. But if the hole is small they can't get in and the Wren can't get out.

"I'll remember to do that," said Uncle Wiggily as he hit the golf ball and made his frog caddy go hopping over the fields to find it.

"There's a Wren singing on that bush now," said Mr. Twisttail. "If you ask him, maybe he'll come and be your alarm clock."

"Little bird," Uncle Wiggily called to the Wren. "Will you come and sing outside my bungalow early in the morning to wake me up? I'll give you a golf ball with Mr. Twisttail will you please?"

"I will if you make me the right kind of house to live in," said the Wren.

"Oh, I'll do that!" promised the rabbit gentleman. "Come and see me to-morrow."

people and friends enjoyed the excellent supper prepared by the Ladies' Aid of the church, after which an enjoyable programme was presented.

W. F. Crookford, magician, performed many clever tricks that were much appreciated by an interested audience. Following this, Don McCain, retiring president, who acted as chairman for the evening, welcomed the following guests: Rev. O. G. Boothroyd of First United Church, Rev. E. F. Church, Mr. and Mrs. E. Parsons and Mrs. L. Warr. Miss Genevieve Knapp rendered a solo, "The Song That Reached My Heart," with Miss E. Mutch as accompanist. Frank White delighted the audience with several selections on his piano accordion.

The secretary, Miss Dorothy Cronk, gave the annual report for the past year. This showed the organization had a most successful year.

Frank White with his piano

accordion and Bert White with his one-string violin again entertained, after which Elbert Wood moved a hearty vote of thanks to the artists.

A lively sing-song was led by Mr. Warr with Genevieve Knapp at the piano. Following this Miss Jessie Christopher thanked the members of the Ladies' Aid for their share in the successful evening.

Rev. Mr. Boothroyd brought greetings from his church and young people in a few well chosen words. Don McCain proposed a toast to the church, in which he expressed the thanks of the society to the church for the excellent way the members and board of the church had helped the work of the society during the year. Mr. Church replied and thanked the young people for their expression of appreciation and wished the society even greater growth and usefulness during the coming year.

Harry Bates, the treasurer, gave the financial report of the organization, which showed an appreciable credit balance.

Miss Maud Land reported that Group A, under the leadership of Mollie Laffy, was the winner of the group contest, and will receive a pennant, to be presented later by Mr. Church.

Rev. Mr. Warr spoke a few words of appreciation to the executive and members of the society for their splendid co-operation during the past year, following which Don McCain thanked Mr. Warr on behalf of the young people for his help and leadership.

E. Parsons briefly expressed his good wishes to the young people and made a concrete suggestion for the coming programme of work.

Just before the closing ceremony, Don McCain called upon Bert Simpson, the newly-elected president, to whom he handed over the reins of the executive, and wished him every success in his new position. Mr. Simpson replied and said he thanked the young people for their expression of confidence in him and that he felt they would have a splendid year together.

The evening closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and one verse of "Auld Lang Syne" after which Mr. Church dismissed the gathering with a brief prayer.

The summer programme will consist of a number of outdoor activities that will be announced in full at a later date.

VICTORIA WEST Y.P.S.

The meeting of the Victoria West Young People's Society was well attended on Tuesday evening when the guest speaker was Sanga Singh, who gave an extremely interesting talk on the "Customs of the People of India." A vote of thanks was given to Sanga Singh by Bill Lewis on behalf of the members of the society.

The devotional period was led by Bill Lewis and Cecil Milley. This included two hymns and a prayer.

Plans are being made for the supper which will be held on Tuesday, June 5, commencing at 6.30. Mrs. Milley is in charge of the arrangements. It is requested that all members be present at the election of officers for the coming year will take place at the conclusion of the supper.

The recreation committee which includes Mrs. Milley, Jack Price and Jack Wallace, were reminded of the outing for the summer. They expect to have all plans made within the next three weeks. Mr. Milley reminded the society of the election of officers to be held on June 23. The meeting closed with a sing-song led by Jack Wallace.

JAMES BAY Y.P.S.

On Monday evening a large number of members attended the meeting of the James Bay Y.P.S. Miss Margaret Davey conducted a group of very lively and interesting games, after which refreshments were served by Miss Edna Dilworth and a committee.

During the evening a report was given by the tennis committee. Nominations blanks will be filled out next Monday in preparation for the election of officers to be held at the closing banquet on June 25.

ROMANO THEATRE
 "State Fair," one of the very popular pictures of the season, is playing a return engagement at the Romano Theatre to-day. The picture is entertaining and boasts a host of popular screen stars, including Will Rogers, Sally Eilers, Janet Gaynor, Louise Dresser, Victor Jory, Lew Ayres, Norman Foster and Frank Craven. The added feature is the comedy "The Strange Case of Hennessey," a musical treat, starring "Ukelele Ike" Cliff Edwards.

"MEN IN WHITE" OPENS FRIDAY
 "Men in White," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, will open to-morrow at the Dominion Theatre. The pathos and tragedy of life in a great hospital are depicted in the new film as a background for the study of the problems of a young interne who desires to become a great surgeon, but falls in love with a society girl who cannot understand his faithfulness to the profession. When Clark Gable, as a young interne, saves a ten-year-old child from death through a complicated medical aid, it was Dr. Carey who stood by the star and directed him in the exact manner and accent given each movement.

FINE CAST AT THE PLAYHOUSE

R. Forbes and Adrienne Ames in "The Avenger"; Myrna Loy in "Conquering Sex"

"The Avenger" opened at the Playhouse Theatre to-day.

Playing the title role is Ralph Forbes, handsome star of Monogram's recently successful "Phantom Broadcast." Forbes appears in his latest picture as a young assistant district attorney who is sentenced to twenty years in prison on circumstantial evidence. Released by the death-bed confession of one of the gang, Forbes starts on a weird trail of vengeance, during which he enlists the aid of such implements of modern warfare as airplanes, Mills bombs and machine guns.

One by one the henchmen of his arch enemy are wiped out, until only their leader remains for the final act of his diabolical plan.

Forbes's performance, as usual, is excellent. Adrienne Ames furnishes most of the romance.

Also being shown on the same programme are Minna Loy and Max Baer in "The Conquering Sex."

EDMUND LOWE AT COLUMBIA

When Columbia Studios were scouting the film colony to find the one man who could play the co-starring role of "Kenneth Lane," the brilliant young motion picture director, in "Let's Fall in Love," the musical production coming to the Columbia Theatre to-day, they selected Edmund Lowe.

Lowe was selected not only because the producers knew that he would give a convincing and creditable performance, but because they wanted Ann Southern, the feminine lead, to make her film debut opposite a seasoned actor.

Also being shown on the same programme is Rex Bell, in "The Fugitive."

VAUDEVILLE AT THE EMPIRE

Some Fine Acts Will Be Seen on Stage With "High Lightning" on the Screen

Providing fine entertainment with acts selected from their many circuits, Levy's Orpheum vaudeville opened to-day at the Empire Theatre. Headlining the programme this week is the Robbins Family in "Unusual Entertainment." They do a lot of singing, dancing and acrobatic numbers. Ray Rich and Dell in "Laugh Topics" are comedians and entertainers with fine talent. Fred Morton in "Stuff and Nonsense," "Chief Eagle Feather," "The Vanishing American," who was trained under Primrose and West of minstrel fame, and the McDonald trio "The Acme of Agility," complete the bill.

The screen attraction is "High Lightning," a powerful drama of the desert, starring Ann Dvorak, which is based on the Broadway play by Leon Abrams and George Abbott.

Major Baseball Leaders Win As Teams Set Attendance Mark

THE SPORTS MARK

AS A CLASS major league baseball players are exceptionally prone to be superstitious, and Babe Ruth is one of the most susceptible. For instance, he always insists upon warming up with a certain selected player before each game. Benny Bengough used to be his favorite. Then he went into a hitting slump and Benny was blacklisted. For a time Eddie Bennett, the mascot, was his choice. Later he switched to Earl Combs, and afterwards to Bill Dickey. But the job never lasts long. Every time the Babe goes into a slump he demands a change.

Lefty Gomez, pitching star of the New York Yankees, is another player who has his own private superstition. He was about to take the mound against Washington Senators in a certain game at the Yankee Stadium. He got his final drink of water, and started up the steps of the dugout. Suddenly he stopped, horrified. "Where's the fat fella?" he demanded. "Who moved it?" For a moment no one spoke. Then the fat boy, flushed and nervous, produced the bat which is short and light, so the batter can hold it in one hand while tossing up the ball with the other, and which has a flat surface, so the batter can place the ball out into the field to whatever man he wants to. "I put it over there," the fat boy explained. "I forgot. I ought to box your ears," Gomez declared. Then he solemnly placed the bat at the very end of the rack, flat face up, and went back for another drink of water. When he emerged from the dugout again, he took care to step lightly on the bat's flat surface as he went out to the mound.

Lefty didn't go very well that day. He was out for the third inning a line drive from Goslin's bat drove in three runs and took Lefty out of the ball game. He walked back to the clubhouse, disconsolately, threw his glove into the corner of the dugout and sat down on the bench, muttering to himself, "That bat played me," he told Joe McCarthy. "I knew I was licked when I saw the kid had moved it. It was a cinch to lose." And Gomez meant every word he said. He believes implicitly that the only way he can ward off the jinx is to step on the flat surface of the bat before he takes the mound.

In the days when Eddie Collins was second baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, he had two cherished superstitions. When batting, he would park his chewing gum on the bottom of his glove, and he would take it to his mouth only after two strikes had been called. Also he had a lucky under-shirt which he wore for ten years or more. That shirt, tucked and tucked, was patched and patched, was Eddie's ace in the hole all through his big league career.

Ted Lyons, the Chicago White Sox pitcher, and George Piggas of the Yankees, have a superstition they picked up on old timers. When they leave the clubhouse at the end of an inning, they put their gloves down most carefully, palm up with thumb crossed over and fingers pointing meticulously toward the dugout. That's because in the days when the spit-ball was permitted, pitchers parked their slippery elm in their gloves between innings, laying out their gloves in that manner. Piggas got the habit from Urban Shocker, perhaps the most superstitious player who ever wore big league spikes, and Ted learned it from the veteran Brownie Faber.

Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees and Hughey Bower of the New York Giants have similar superstitions. When they take the field they always walk over and move the opposing second baseman's glove a few inches from where it was. Critics in addition, always picks up a pebble from the infield at the start of every inning. Gabby Hartnett, catcher for the Chicago Cubs, will travel far out of his way to avoid stepping between the catcher and the umpire when he goes to the plate. If Gen Robertson, formerly a first baseman, succeeded in getting a hit on his first time at the plate he would thereafter studiously retrace his identical steps on each trip from the dugout.

Eppa Rixey, the elongated left hander of the Cincinnati Reds, after losing a tough game, always breaks up a chair in the clubhouse as a rather expensive gesture, incidentally, for a tall and club such as Cincinnati. Fred Toney, the old Giant pitcher, who worked in the days before sanitary drinking fountains, used to crash the water bucket to pieces after a bad inning. And Manager George Stallings of the old Boston Braves had one of the most peculiar traits of all. Whenever a rally started, he wouldn't move from the position he happened to strike at the moment the rally began. Once he was caught crouched down in a corner of the dugout picking up a match. On that occasion the Braves were leading by a wide margin, and Stallings wouldn't move, and for fifteen minutes he suffered agony. At the finish his leg was so cramped that he had to be carried to the clubhouse and given a massage.

Thus, luck goes to bat.

St. Louis Cards Sweep Twin Bill; Cleveland Splits

Holiday Fixtures Draw 238,000 Through Turnstiles For Season Record

Three Games Go Extra Innings

Fans totaling 238,000 filled the major league baseball stands in eight cities to set a high mark for the season yesterday, bettering considerably the opening-day turnout of 185,000. The largest throng of the day, 70,000, gathered at the Yankee Stadium to see New York and Washington divide a pair of brilliantly-played games. Brooklyn made the next best showing, setting an Ebbets Field attendance record of 42,000 for the Dodger-New York Giants bill which brought two defeats for the home club.

At New York, the Yankees dropped a 1 to 0 decision to Washington, but evened the count and remained close behind Cleveland's league leaders by taking the second game 5 to 4 in eleven innings.

Cleveland also was held to an even break, dropping the twelve-inning opener to Chicago 6 to 7 despite Sammy Rice's two home runs, then winning the second contest 5 to 4 when Hal Trosky hit three homers in a row.

Detroit's third-place Tigers were the only American League winners yesterday, beating St. Louis Browns 7 to 6 and 5 to 4, and they had to go ten innings to capture the second game.

Philadelphia and Boston split a morning and afternoon program. The A's took a 5 to 3 decision in the early encounter and the Red Sox came back with a 2 to 1 triumph.

SWEET DOUBLEHEADERS
Three of the four teams involved in the National League battle swept twin-bills while the fourth, Pittsburgh, lost twice and skidded down to fourth place. Chicago Cubs accounted for the Pirates' downfall by scores of 7 to 2 and 5 to 4. Chuck Klein's thirteenth homer helped win the opener.

The league-leading St. Louis Cardinals took two easy victories from the last-place Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 6 and 9 to 2. New York Giants captured second place from Pittsburgh by sweeping Brooklyn 8 to 5 and 6 to 6.

Boston Braves also won two games, beating the Phillies 10 to 4 and 5 to 1 but suffered a setback in the opener when they lost to the Red Sox 4 to 3. The Braves' pitcher, Dwight Gooden, pulled a muscle in his pitching arm and had to retire in the third inning.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
Except in the matter of gate receipts, where fine weather aided in making the turnstiles click rapidly, only one out of eight international games was a close one. The Montreal Royals won the Memorial Day doubleheaders.

Albany Senators took both games 6 to 3 and 4 to 1 from Baltimore to move from seventh to fifth in the standing.

All the other bills were divided, leaving the race for the top unchanged. Rochester's league leaders took the second game from Toronto Leafs 6 to 3 after Toronto had won the first 9 to 8.

Montreal and Buffalo featured home runs in a pair of slugfests. Jimmy Ripley socked two as the Royals won the first game 9 to 6. Reg Mulleavy and Ollie Tucker contributed circuit swats to Buffalo's 4 to 3 triumph in the second.

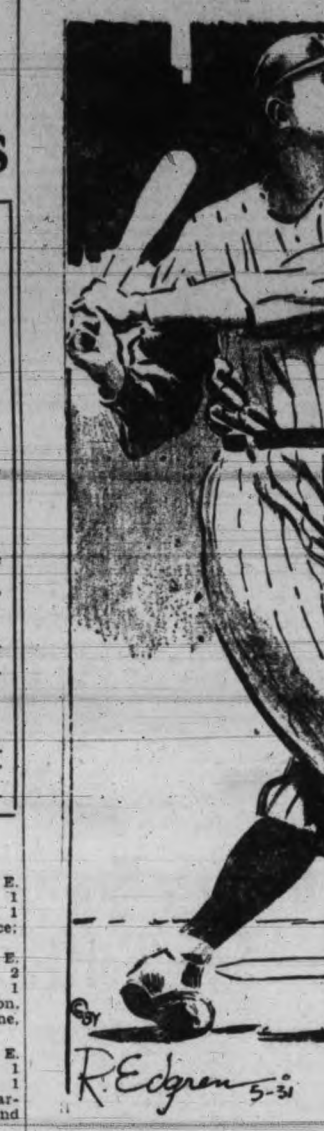

Newark defeated Syracuse 9 to 1 but lost the second 5 to 4 due to errors.

CANN STARS IN SONS' VICTORY

Gives Good Pitching Performance to Beat Stockers in Twilight Baseball League

Striking out twelve Stockers batters and allowing only five scattered hits, Lloyd Cann, who last year played in the Senior Amateur League, yesterday evening hurled sons of Canada to an 8 to 2 victory over the baggage men in the Twilight Baseball League fixture at the Athletic Park.

Lloyd Jones, pitching for Stockers, turned in a steady performance, but his support was weak.

The win sent the Sons into second place behind Sidney.

The Sons took the lead in the first frame of the seven-inning game with three runs, drove in two more in the third and added another trio in the fifth.

Stockers gained one run in the fifth and one in the sixth.

The league standing to date follows:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Sons of Canada	2	1	1.000
St. Louis Cardinals	2	1	.667
Manish Senators	1	1	.500
Knickerbocker Indians	1	1	.500
Hendrick Phillies	0	2	.000
Pitzer & Nex	0	2	.000

Next game—To-morrow evening, Pitzer & Nex vs. Sidney.

THE BIG SIX

Rollie Hemaley, St. Louis Browns' catcher, hit three times in yesterday's double header with Detroit Tigers to boost his season average to .415 and hold the leadership of baseball's Big Six.

$25,000 Offer Made To Ross

Tyler, Texas, May 31.—J. Curtis Sanford, Tyler oil man and president of the Chicago Coliseum, said yesterday he had wired a $25,000 cash guarantee offer to Barney Ross, world welterweight and lightweight champion, to meet Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, in a return fight in Chicago on Labor Day.

Sanford said he had received no reply to the telegram. Sanford's offer also included a percentage of the gate receipts. He said he would leave for Chicago at once to negotiate further with the managers of the two fighters.

GOOD BOUTS ARE LISTED

George Lowe and Rudy Loeffler Meet on Mount Stephen Club Mat Card

George Lowe, the Chinese flash, will clash with one of the best wrestlers in the local amateur ranks when he tackles Rudy Loeffler, present British Columbia champion and undefeated in the last four years on the Mount Stephen Athletic Club card to-morrow evening.

Lowe is a newcomer and promises to extend the champion to the limit. The pair meet in the main event at 8 o'clock.

In the special event Spider Mascall stakes his island championship when he meets "The Black Marvel," a mystery man, who has not been defeated yet and comes to the club with a splendid reputation.

In the semi-final Jack Lacey, whose last two starts have resulted in victories, will meet "Taran" Shepherd, an athlete who has lost only one bout to date.

The boxing event will bring together Alan Laird, Mount Stephen Club boxer, and Tommy Kimoto, a flashy Japanese boxer from the Taiyos Club.

Wally Edwards will clash with Pete Stewart, a clever Equinault grappler, who will be out to beat the Cedar Hill wildcat.

B.C. Amateur Golf Starts To-morrow

Leading Club Swingers of Province Will Seek Crown Over Quilchena Club Course; Victoria Well Represented; Draw Is Announced

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 31.—The annual battle for the British Columbia amateur golf championship gets under way to-morrow morning over the hilly fairways of the Quilchena Club course.

Some seventy crack shotmakers, including sixteen Vancouver Island stars, and one each from Chilliwack, Princeton, and Penticton, will stroke their way around the rebarbered 6,400-yard course in the light to enter the favored sixteen to qualify for the title rounds.

Victoria will be represented by a squad of stars including Harold Brynjolfson, Uplands, a holder three years ago; Alan Taylor, Oak Bay star who has fought to the semifinals in practically every major tournament in the province during the last two years; Bob Morrison, city champion, and a dozen others.

Dr. H. E. Margeson and L. F. LePas have entered from Nanaimo.

MAINLAND THREATS
Foremost among the mainland threats are Ken Black, Shaughnessy, defending title; Stan Leonard, Glen Oaks, 1932 champion; Ted Charlson, Point Grey, who was eliminated in the 1932 semi-final by Leonard in an extra-hole match, and the best from four other clubs.

J. Bacon, Gorge Vale, Victoria, and K. P. R. Mair, Quilchena, will open the title hunt, teeing off at 8:32 o'clock to-morrow morning in the qualifying round. They will be followed at four-minute intervals by the rest of the field.

U.S. STARS WIN TENNIS

Wood, Stofen Defeat Mexicans in Opening Matches of Davis Cup Play

Baltimore, Md., May 31.—Two blond youngsters on the United States Davis Cup tennis team chalked up straight-set victories over Mexico in the opening matches of the North American zone final round yesterday to take a two-to-nothing lead and practically clinch the series.

A victory in the doubles match today or one win in either of the Saturday singles matches will give the United States the right to compete against the European zone victors. In the first round of the American zone play, the United States defeated Canada five straight matches.

In the opening match, Sidney B. Wood, the New Yorker, vanquished Esteban M. Reyes, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, and in the following match the Mexican captain, Dr. Ricardo Tapia, fell before the lightning-like strokes of the giant Californian, Lester Stofen, by 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

James Wallace To Remain Amateur

Troon, Scotland, May 31.—James Wallace, Troon's famed unemployed carpenter, who has won such a wide championship until he ran in Lawson Little in the final, will not take a professional golf job London after all.

Wallace plans to play in the Scottish amateur in July and appeared probable that British golfing factors, interested in building up a strong British World Cup team for the 1936 match had intervened to keep him from losing his amateur standing.

CHURCHMEN CRUSH BAY

Defeat Storemen By Wickets in One-sided Match Week Cricket Game

With Comley putting on fifty-eight runs before being caught out by Hanson, Five C's defeat Hudson's Bay by ten wickets yesterday's Wednesday Cricket League fixture at Beacon Hill.

All the department store bats were dismissed for twenty-eight, a total which Comley and Shrimpton passed in a first wicket partnership. Smith and Penderay shared the big honors for the churchmen, for four wickets in seven overs for ten runs and five wickets in seven overs for eleven runs respectively.

VACS SUFFER BAD SETBACK

Vancouver Senior Baseballers Beaten 7 to 0 by Arnold and Quigley

Vancouver, May 31.—While teammates were bunched in nine hits where they counted runs, Earl Lewis held the Vacs' bats to four scatter safeties, and Arnold & Quigley won 7 to 0, in a senior city ball game here yesterday evening.

The result stopped the five-winning streak of the Vacs and Joe Dalley's consecutive victory record at six games.

Manager Jimmy Waters opening in the second inning, he hit for the circuit with the empty.

Miron tripled to open the Lewis doubled to score Miron scored himself on Trassolini's double.

Two hits, one of them a triple, an error and an infield out, the Vacs' bats were kept in the seventh, and Miron's double scoring Stags in the eighth, the scoring.

Short score:
A. & Q. 7
Vacs 0
Batteries: Lewis and St. Dalley and Padovan.

Junior Softball

One-sided results featured play in the junior division of the Lower Island Softball Association, yesterday evening. Goodwin's Grocery, present leaders, took a 23 to 9 decision from Pescok's Grocery, while the Colonias administered a 22 to 8 defeat to Young Liberals, and Harris's Cyclettes won from Foul Bay, 23 to 17. Adams's Grocery took the easiest verdict of the evening, shutting out Province, 23 to 0.

CANADIAN EVENT HELD IN PARIS

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, May 31.—The provinces of France rocked the cradle of Canada, Jean Desy, councillor of the Canadian Legation in Paris, said yesterday evening in an address delivered in the Sorbonne on the occasion of the fourth centenary of the discovery of the Dominion.

In the distinguished assemblage were Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, patron; Charles Brun, general delegate to the regional French federation, and Leonce Armbruster, president of the French Renaissance Society.

"Canada," Mr. Desy said, "grew up without losing sight of those who were so generous to her."

GREAT WEST TO MOVE OFFICES

Local Company Takes Over
Quarters on Top Floor of Bank of Toronto Building

The Victoria branch office of the Great West Life Assurance Company will occupy new and more spacious quarters in the Bank of Toronto Building in the Sorbonne on the occasion of the fourth centenary of the discovery of the Dominion.

The Great West Life Assurance Company which was established in 1892 is one of the pioneer assurance companies of the west, having maintained an agency in Victoria for about thirty years. Many prominent figures in business life of the city have represented the company here.

The company has done a great deal in developing the insurance field on the island and at the present time the total business in force on Vancouver Island amounts to the substantial sum of $9,250,000. In new business for the year to date, the agency ranks among the highest of the company in comparative increase over the same period of 1933.

J. R. Nicolson, C.L.U., is the branch manager and W. C. Hudson is the branch cashier.

HOLIDAY DEATHS IN UNITED STATES

Accidents Claim More Than Two Score Lives on Memorial Day

Canadian Press
New York, May 31.—More than forty deaths occurred in the celebration of Memorial Day by United States citizens yesterday, a survey revealed today.

Bright sunshine and high temperatures lured thousands of motorists out on crowded highways and smash-ups on the roads claimed thirteen lives, the heaviest toll. Eight drownings were reported, airplane crashes took seven lives, level cross collisions five and other accidents eight.

An airplane crash at Yarrington, Texas, took two lives, another at Mansfield, O., two, one near Newcastle, Ind., two, and one at Chicago, one.

Automobile accidents killed four in Michigan, two in Ohio, one in Minnesota, four in Illinois and two in Indiana.

Two persons drowned in Iowa, two in Ohio, three in Minnesota and one in Indiana.

When an automobile and train crashed at Flint, Mich., four were killed and three injured, one fatally.

A woman fell from her New York apartment window, a farmer fell from a roof in Wisconsin, two persons were killed in Texas, a deputy stabbed and five others shot, and in Rhode Island, a farm hand, later killed by police, shot a state officer to death.

COMMONS DEBATES COMPANIES BILL

As Tightening of Regulations
Looms Companies Seek Charters From Provinces,
Says Secretary of State

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 31.—Fearing the strict provisions of the new Dominion Companies Act, scores of new companies are seeking their charters from the provincial governments instead of from the federal. This information was given the House of Commons by Hon. C. H. Cahoon, Secretary of State, as an illustration of the difficulties attaching to the enactment of rigid company laws.

The House spent yesterday discussing the companies bill and a number of members urged greater safeguards to protect unsuspecting investors from the manipulations of unscrupulous promoters. It is hoped the provinces will tighten up their company laws.

The new federal law is designed to be a basis for uniform laws throughout the country and until this condition comes about the full amount of protection can not be given the public.

NO PAR SHARES
During the discussion yesterday an attack on the wholesale issue of common stock of no par value was made by Mr. J. H. Macdonald, member for Last Mountain, Sask., who proposed a prohibition against such issues, claiming they led to stock watering and the fleeing of unsuspecting investors.

Mr. Cahoon said he could not accept the Butcher amendment, which finally was withdrawn. The bill, said Mr. Cahoon, went as far as possible in the direction of protecting investors, but all evils could not be wiped out at once, especially when provincial legislatures had the right to incorporate companies.

The present bill, said the Secretary of State, was one of the most stringent company incorporation laws in the world.

STEP BY STEP
"I suggest we remedy such evils as we can at the present time," said Mr. Cahoon, "and live in reasonable expectation that the amendments and reforms incorporated in the bill will be adopted by the several legislatures of Canada and that we proceed step by step to solve the problem of company organization which confronts us and secure the reforms which the conditions of the commercial and industrial life of this country disclose as being reasonably necessary."

The government had gone as far as it felt it could in refusing the issuance of no par value shares preferred as to capital, he said. In 1924 Parliament had changed the act permitting of no par value shares both common and preferred. Hundreds of companies had issued preferred shares of no par value but this would not be permitted in future if this bill became law.

Several clauses of the 208-clause bill passed through the committee stage yesterday.

BRANSON MAKES FAST JOURNEY

Flies Over Continent Both Ways and Crosses Ocean
on Bremen on Europe Trip

After a business visit to Europe, in which he traveled both ways by the most ultra-modern facilities, C. L. Branson, head of the Branson Investment Company Limited, has returned to Victoria.

Mr. Branson left Victoria about the middle of April. He traveled to New York by one of the giant transatlantic liners from Seattle. There he boarded the express train, Bremen, which is the latest thing in ocean transportation, and crossed to Southampton.

On his return trip Mr. Branson again crossed the Atlantic on the Bremen. He made a sidetrip to Ottawa for a couple of days, but then returned to New York to board an airplane for his coast. He left New York at 12:30 noon on Monday, and arrived in Victoria 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, disembarking from the airliner at Seattle and taking the morning boat over.

Mr. Branson pointed out that from New York to Victoria was less than twenty-five hours, a speed which he said it was the only modern way of travel.

Interest was added to the trip on the Bremen by the discovery when he landed at Southampton of two storyways, one of them being a beautiful young society girl out for adventure. Mr. Branson said he got snapshots of them.

Mr. Branson also crossed from England to the continent by airplane. He found conditions in France were bad, tourists were lacking, prices high and the whole atmosphere of the country depressing. England, in contrast, he found humming with hotels full, business men optimistic, shops full and a lot of money put into circulation by an extensive building programme. He found also lots of money in England waiting for investment, with interest in Canadian government bonds and also in mining.

In England Mr. Branson said he had an enjoyable time, motoring 1,200 miles and visiting old friends and members of his family.

And snow-crowned crest
The wind is my love,

It blows the ray

APPRECIATION OF RADIO IS URGED

C.N. and C.P. Telegraphs
Tell Commons Committee of Wire Services

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 31.—A brief presented before the Commons radio committee yesterday urged recognition and appreciation of the service rendered in the development of national broadcasting by the two great wire communication companies of Canada—the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific.

It was a joint presentation by the two companies, reviewing the development of chain broadcasting since the inception of radio, and emphasizing the heavy investment, large payrolls and value to the community at large of the vast network of wires that provide facilities to bring the voice of radio into every hamlet of the Dominion.

C. L. Howard, Montreal, represented the companies before the committee.

Constant-to-constant broadcasting initiated in Canada in 1927, could never have developed to the high state of efficiency it has reached, the brief stated, without the co-operation of the wire companies. These companies had been content to make their facilities available at a low revenue, and at times free of charge, in the belief of a more adequate return would be made when the industry became completely organized.

In the meantime, realizing the necessity of keeping well ahead of the progress of radio development, the companies were maintaining a network of facilities comparable to any in the world, representing an investment of more than $5,000,000, employing a full time staff of seventy highly trained men and an annual payroll of $120,000.

manfully but slowly perishing at the hands of these enemies.

It is now clear also what the little boy next door was really doing in the damp, cold days of March when he charged up and down the garden, riding a rake like a hobby horse.

It is now clear that he was secretly scattering seeds of parsley and carrots in all directions. And, curiously enough, they seem to be the only seeds that have developed beyond infancy. Carrots and parsley surge up everywhere except where I planted them so carefully. I suppose we shall be living the rest of the year on carrots and parsley, if we can manage to save them from the tide of weeds that sweeps around them. Probably if the little boy next door hadn't stolen some seeds and scattered them secretly we shouldn't have had anything to eat at all after the extravagances of the East.

BIG NEWS
THERE IS OTHER news of import besides the ruin of agriculture. The little girl next door has informed me that the robin who was building a nest in the eaves of George Pudbury's barn has hatched out three little ones which you can see in the nest, if you climb up to the loft and look through a hole in the roof. And the red cow had a new calf which was black all over except for its white face, a phenomenon which, I am assured, has baffled the whole neighborhood. And, worst news of all, terrible news since they cost 18 apiece and were secured only at the risk of life and limb from a lake in the far interior—worst of all, the three great turtles, alas, are no more.

They were found dead on the shore of the Lily pond one morning, lying together as if, pining for the home in the Dry Belt, they had entered into a solemn pact of self-destruction and c'd together. Science cannot account for their death. Mr. Pudbury, who buried them, can account for it, and can only hint that we who brought them to these alien shores are no better than murderers, though he admits that the rose bush beside which the poor victims were buried has shown a remarkably luxuriant growth of late.

This, thinks Mr. Pudbury, is the only useful purpose ever served by turtles in a garden and, says he, he goes to a lake near Kamloops, why the life of a friend who had to wade out into the slime and quicksand to capture them, when a shower of good barnyard stuff would effect the same result on the rose bushes?

Yes, indeed, and why go away to the noisome haunts of civilization, the capitals of this continent to find out what is happening when it is clear, on your return, that your friends here know much more about it than you do, without leaving the own hearth? They say so themselves. Away go away and leave a whole field of vegetables and a pond of turtles to rot, merely to acquire an increase of confusion about the problems of these times?

Kingston, Ont., May 31 (Canada Press).—The Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Ontario in session here today had favored establishment of a form of civil marriage in Ontario. The delegates approved the recommendation of the special committee appointed to study the question.
